DR. HYDE GUILTY; PRISON FOR LIFE

Kansas City Physician Convicted of Swope Murder by Jury That Had Been Out Since Friday

UNEXPECTED VERDICT CRUSHES MRS. HYDE

Kansas City, Mo., May 16.—Behind the bars of the county jail Dr. B. C. Hyde today is confined, convicted of murdering Col. Thomas H. Swope, his wife's uncle, on last October 3.

The jury, after being out since last Friday, returned its verdict this morning at 10:23.

The prisoner smiled when he heard his fate.

Out in her fashionable home in Forest avenue Mrs. Hyde and two sisters of the convicted man wept and hoped. All of them believe the supreme court will reverse the decision.

In Independence, Mrs. Logan O. Swope, mother-in-law of Dr. Hyde, is near collapse.

She was glad to be endorsed by a jury for her ceaseless prosecution of her daughter's husband, but the shock of conviction has made her nervous and weak. She was not present when the verdict was returned.

Dr. Hyde will be sentenced late this week. The physician's attorneys will ask for a new trial and then appeal the case. By law Dr. Hyde cannot now be admitted to bail.

Mrs. Hyde Overcome.

"Oh, Clark," cried Mrs. Hyde when the verdict was read by Judge Latshaw.

She threw her arms about his neck and wept silently. Then she patted her husband on the cheek. Dr. Hyde sat motionless. He looked firmly at Judge Latshaw while the verdict was being received. As the words "imprisonment in the state penitentiary during his natural life" were pronounced he gazed steadily at the floor.

"Don't worry, dearie," he said to his wife as she clasped him in her arms. Mrs. E. N. Hopkins and Miss Laura Hyde, sisters of the physician, looked distressed but did not break down. They tried to comfort Mrs. Hyde.

"We shall hope for the best," they said. "We don't understand this verdict. Clark is innocent."

"I have a last hope," declared Dr. Hyde.

Within ten minutes after the verdict had been returned the doctor was on his way to his cell. Mrs. Hyde remained in the court room for some time. She was extremely weak.

Neither Mrs. Logan O. Swope nor any of her children except Mrs. Hyde was in the room when the jury reported.

No Favors for Convicted Man.

The physician will be sentenced in open court by Judge Latshaw Thursday or Friday. The law allows the defense four days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

"Treat that prisoner the same as any other," Judge Latshaw ordered County Marshal Joel B. Mayes. "Give him few privileges and no luxuries."

The usual custom of permitting prisoners to send out for their meals will apply in Dr. Hyde's case, but he must sleep in a cell.

"I will file a motion for a new trial and then take an appeal in the case," said Frank P. Walsh, chief counsel for Dr. Hyde.

Verdict Came Unexpectedly.

The verdict came unexpectedly. Every attorney in the case had given up hope that the jury, which had been out since Friday night, would reach an agreement. It was reported this morning that one juror vowed he would "vote for acquittal until I die of old age."

When the announcement came that the verdict was ready the news spread rapidly. From a little side room issued Dr. Hyde, his wife and sister. They sat down at the defense's table. The overcoat the physician had worn for two days as if he were ready to go home was absent.

The reaching of an agreement made it seem certain the physician had been found guilty.

Brave Wife Was Confident.

On the face of discouraging prospects, Mrs. Hyde tried to be brave.

"I think it will be all right," she said to her husband, and smiled.

After the reading of the verdict the crowd, at the marshal's order, rose and silently trooped out of the room. Judge Latshaw thanked each of the jurors and then they hurried home. They were glad to go for it is just five weeks ago today that the trial started.

An hour after the verdict was reached Mrs. Hyde was able to go to her home. Before leaving she said:

"I am now over the first shock and am feeling better. I shall take immediate steps to make a motion for a new trial. Failing in this I shall arrange for an appeal. The case will be reversed in the supreme court, I am confident, because Clark is innocent and, therefore, it cannot be otherwise."

Frank P. Walsh, the leading counsel for Dr. Hyde, said: "The case will be appealed and we have every confidence in its final outcome."

Mrs. Swope Shrieks.

When news of the conviction was forwarded by 'phone to Mrs. Swope in Independence she shrieked and dropped the receiver. She refused to make a statment.

It is the belief of court attaches that the supreme court will be unable to reach Dr. Hyde's case for at least a year on account of the crowded condition of the docket. In the meantime the prisoner may be kept in the county jail or sent to the state prison at Jefferson City by Judge Latshaw. The law of Missouri prohibits the courts from admitting a convicted murderer to bail.

Prosecutor's Statement.

Virgil Conkling, prosecutor of Jackson county, who led the fight against Hyde for the state, issued the following statement following the report of the jury:

"The very enormity of the crime made the conviction difficult. The state of Missouri owes to Judge Ralph S. Latshaw a proud and grateful acknowledgment for his impartial, but inflexible enforcement of the law. The jury is entitled to the highest respect of the public for its faithful labors and its brave and conscientious discharge of a stern duty.

"The loss of the grand jury notes and their subsequent discovery in the hands of the defense, coupled with the defiant refusal of the defense to restore those notes to the court, only resulted in domonstrating the desperate position of the defense."

Mrs. Logan O. Swope was feeling improved in spirits this afternoon and consented to talk.

"If I had not been satisfied I was doing the right thing," she said, "I would never have started this prosecution of my son-in-law. As for a reconciliation with my daughter, I stand now as I have always stood. The doors of my house and my arms and heart are open to her whenever she wants to come home."

TWO WOULD TAKE TARIFF Er.

History of the Famous Case.

Dr. B. Clarke Hyde has been under suspicion in connection with the mysterious illnesses and deaths in the Swope household ever since the death of Col. Thomas H. Swope, millionaire philanthropist, Oct. 3, 1909. The death of Col. Swope followed soon after he had suffered a severe convulsion. The convulsion it was charged by members of the Swope family, followed immediately after Col. Swope had taken a capsule at the direction of Doctor Hyde. Dr. Hyde said it was a digestive tablet. It was proven at the trial that Dr. Hyde had purchased cyanide of potassium in five-grain capsules and he was prosecuted on the belief that he gave one of these capsules to Col. Swope. Dr. Hyde said he bought the cyanide capsules to kill roaches in his office.

Death of Moss Hunton.

Two days before the death of Col. Swope, Moss Hunton, his cousin, died at the Swope home following a stroke of apoplexy. Dr. Hyde and Dr. G. T. Twyman, of Independence, treated Hunton. The patient was bled profusely it is charged, at the suggestion of Dr. Hyde. After six pints of blood was taken from Hunton the bleeding was stopped but not until Dr. Twyman had repeatedly protested that too much blood was being taken from the old man. Beginning early in December, an epidemic of typhoid fever broke out in the Swope home, during which ten members of the family were stricken and one, Chrisman Swope, a brother of Dr. Hyde's wife, died.

Died After Taking Capsule.

Chrisman Swope died after taking a capsule given at Dr. Hyde's direction and after suffering a convulsion similar to the one that attacked Col. Swope. Margaret Swope, Chrisman's sister, who also was treated by Dr. Hyde, had a convulsion after taking a capsule but she was given an emetic at once by Dr. Twyman and she recovered.

Jan. 7, 1910, the body of Chrisman Swope was secretly exhumed and four days later the body of Col. Swope was removed from its tomb. The viscera of the bodies were taken to Chicago for analysis. The analysis of the liver of Col. Swope resulted in the finding of 52-66 of a grain of strychnine, by the Chicago chemists.

The coroner of this county then summoned a jury which after investigating the death of Col. Swope, decided he died as the result of strychnine posion administered at the direction of Dr. Hyde.

Arrested and Indicted.

The county prosecutor then issued a warrant charging Doctor Hyde with murder in the first degree after John G. Paxton, executor of the Swope estate had filed an information against the physician.

Judge Latshaw empaneled a grand jury. This jury indicted Doctor Hyde for murder in the first degree in connection with the death of Colonel Swope and Christman Swope and in connection with the death of Moses Hunton. In all Dr. Hyde was indicted on eleven counts, the remaining indictments charging him with trying to murder members of the Swope family by introducing typhoid germs and poison administered by him.

WILL MEET THIS EVENING.

Ministers and Laymen to Gather in Interest of Missionary Work.

There will be an important meeting this evening in the parlors of the Wayne Street M. E. church, which concerns every minister in Allen county and three laymen from each one of the churches in both city and county, who have been asked to be present.

The meeting of ministers is interdenominational and is to further the interest in the laymen's missionary movement and to organize a branch of the organization. An address concerning the work will be delivered by E. A. Halsey, of Chicago.

A supper will be served the ministers at 7 o'clock by the ladies of the Wayne Street church and at the close of the meal Mr. Halsey will make his address.

KANSAS CITY PHYSICIAN CONVICTED OF SWOPE MURDER, AND HIS WIFE WHO HAS STOOD BRAVELY BY HIM.

DR. AND MRS. B. C. HYDE ENTERING CRIMINAL COURT BUILDING-KANSAS CITY, MO.

BIG FIRE CAUSED A LOSS OF $4,500 AT HICKSVILLE

Undertaker's Wareroom, Two Hearses and Coffins Destroyed.

[Special to The Sentinel.]

Hicksville, O., May 16.—Fire supposed to be of incendiary origin which broke out at 1 o'clock this morning destroyed the wareroom of C. W. Miller, an undertaker of this place, and contents, consisting of two hearses and a number of coffins, the loss being $4,000, on which there was an insurance of $2,000.

The wareroom of George H. Serrin, adjoining, also caught fire and was partially destroyed. It was used for storing hardware and at the time of the fire there was a large quantity of goods stored in it. The loss of Mr. Serrin was $500, covered by insurance.

Just after the fire broke out two men were seen running from the vicinity of the Miller building, but neither of them could be identified. This leads to the belief that the fire was of incendiary origin.

The fire department quickly responded to the first alarm and their efforts saved the adjoining building.

EFFORT TO CUT OUT COMMERCE COURT FAILURE

Cummins Amendment to the Rail Bill Defeated by Good Margin.

Washington, May 16.—A motion by Senator Cummins that the senate strike out of the railroad bill the six sections to create a court of commerce was defeated.

The vote on the Cummins amendment was 28 ayes, 37 noes.

The only republicans who voted for the Cummins amendment were Beveridge, Borah, Bristow, Clapp, Crawford, Cummins, Dolliver and LaFollette. No democratic senators voted against the Cummins amendment.

WOMEN'S CLUBS FEDERATION.

Recommendations of the President Are Taken Up.

Cincinnati, May 16.—With the recommendations of the president of the organization before that body as its principal subject for consideration at the morning session, the general federation of women's clubs convened today.

The Illinois delegation paid honor to Theodore Thomas today, placing a wreath on the statue of the famous musician, that was recently dedicated by President Taft. Mrs. Frances Everett, president of the Illinois federation made the address.

Ninety per cent. of the resolutions proposing revision of the constitution or by-laws, including the plan for doubling the per capita dues of the 800,000 members, were defeated.

FROM A POLLUTED SPRING

Where Typhoid Epidemic at Plainfield Started.

Plainfield, Ind., May 16.—Fred Izelgrigg, aged 15, of Lafayette, died of typhoid fever at the Indiana boys' school here today. This is the first death due to the typhoid fever epidemic at the institution. There are between seventy and eighty cases of typhoid and malaria at the school, and a few patients are in a serious condition. The hospital facilities are overtaxed and some of the cases have been removed to cottages.

Dr. J. F. Simonds, state bacteriologist, who made an examination of a spring from which most of the water supply came, found that the spring was polluted with sewage.

WOULD TAKE THE TARIFF OFF BEEF

Steel Workers Attack Problem of High Cost of Living.

TO FOLLOW LABOR'S LEAD IN POLITICS

Initiative and Referendum is Once More Defeated in Convention.

Attacking the high cost of living, the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers today went on record with a declaration favoring the removal of the tariff on beef as a partial solution of the problem, and pledged itself to independent political action in support of any propaganda evolved by the American Federation of Labor to improve the condition of labor in the United States. Incidentally the convention once more, by a decisive vote, defeated the proposition for the initiative and referendum in the Amalgamated association.

Debate Was Exhaustive.

Debate at today's session was exhaustive upon every proposition which came before the body, and the delegates spoke at length, going deeply into about every phase of each issue as it came up in the report of the committee on good of the order.

This committee submitted a recommendation for the adoption of the initiative and referendum, and the issue was threshed out for an hour and a half before it came to a vote. When it did so the committee's recommendation was turned down by a decisive vote.

The high cost of living was another of the live issues which claimed the extended attention of the convention, ending in the adoption of the recommendation that the tariff be taken off beef for the period of at least one year. It was held that beef is the one staple food that the workingman must have, and in the adoption of the resolution for the removal of the tariff it is explained that the convention is merely taking the beef barons at their word—that the increased cost is not due to the beef trust, but to the increasing populations of the country and the lessening of the areas of the cattle ranges, reducing the beef production. The admission of foreign beef would, it is held, if this be true, lower the price of beef without reducing the profits of the beef magnates. The steel workers want the plan tried, anyway.

Break Away from Party.

Another resolution adopted by the convention declared for independent political action upon the part of the ten thousand men in the ranks of the association. It voted to sustain unitedly any political plan outlined by the American Federation of Labor as against the platform of any political party which does not give labor the recognition due it. The action, in short, places the association in the camp of the "insurgents" for political reform.

Still another expression of the convention was contained in a resolution calling upon the government to cease its prosecution of Fred Warren, editor of the Appeal to Reason, who is charged with libel in his exposure of what the laboring men regarded as a plot to convict Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone in the Colorado labor troubles.

As rapidly as possible the convention is disposing of the reports from its various committees, which, aside from the election of officers and the selection of the next convention city, constitutes about all the business yet to come before the body. There is a possibility that adjournment may come tomorrow.

All Will Be Re-Elected.

It is regarded as practically certain that President P. J. McArdle and the other general officers of the association will all be re-elected without opposition, as there are no indications of a contest for any of the places.

Editor Ben I. Davis, of the Amalgamated Journal, was at Elwood Sunday, where he delivered an address to the tinplate workers who are on a strike in that city.

MOTOR CYCLIST IN COURT AND ONE IS FINED

Judge Lenient With the Young Men But Gave Them Warning.

Arthur Kiel was fined $15 and costs in the city court today on the charge of operating a motocycle on W. Main street at an excessive speed and Harold Doswell, who was with him was acquitted because the law provides that only the man operating the machine was amenable.

The pair was racing down Main street Saturday night, and at Broadway they struck Mrs. Jane M. Donahoe, 50 years old, and living at 403 Ross street, knocked her to the street and broke her left leg. They got off the machine and returned, and the woman was taken into St. Joseph's hospital, but when the young men wanted to continue their journey they were surrounded by an angry lot of people who saw the accident and who held them until the police came.

They agreed to pay the hospital bill and for the medical attention, and for that reason the fine was made small. Judge Mungovan warned both of them that the lives of people are endangered every day by the carelessness of men who run motorcycles and stated that they must be careful and not get into his court again on the same charge.

The police department has been annoyed day after day by complaints against the speed maintained by motor cycle riders and Chief Ben Elliott says some drastic measures will be taken to stop the dangerous practice unless the riders come to the use of reason and ride within the speed limit of eight miles an hour.

SHERIFF RECOVERS OUTFIT.

Also Arrests Grover Hollis for the Ohio Authorities.

Grover Hollis was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Brennan and Courdevey for the theft of a horse and buggy at Marion, O., and has agreed to return to Ohio without requisition papers. Sheriff Reichelderfer and Deputy Schoenefeld started out after him yesterday after learning a rig had been abandoned at Collingwood and met him on the road to Auburn, but did not recognize him. He later got a description and telephoned his deputies here to look out for him and they captured him. The rig is valued at $250 and Hollis said he had driven to Peru, Tipton and Kokomo and back here and abandoned the horse because it could not go any further.

WATCHES ARE MISSING.

Horace Mariotte Reports Robbery to the Police.

The police have been working today on a robbery reported last night by Horace Mariotte, pawnbroker on East Main street, who says his establishment was entered between 9 and 10 o'clock last night and about sixty watches taken. Some money was taken from the cash drawer, he said, and he estimated that sixty watches, worth in all about $500, were stolen.

A rear window opening on a fire escape on the fourth floor was found open and this was pointed out to the police as the manner in which the thief got into the building. The police have been looking around and have sent telegrams over the surrounding country.

ANOTHER TUNNEL DISCUSSION.

Bethany Men's Club to Hold Open Meeting Tuesday Night.

The men of the Bethany Presbyterian church congregation will have another open meeting at the church parlors tomorrow night to further discuss the proposition to have a street opened under the Nickel Plate tracks in Nebraska. Other improvement propositions will also be discussed by speakers from Nebraska and Bloomingdale, the parts of the city most directly benefited by them.

BRIBERY TRIAL POSTPONED.

Chicago, Ill., May 16.—The trial of Lee O'Neil Browne, the state representative charged with bribing other representatives to vote for William Lorimer for senator, went over to May 24 today. On that date Judge McSurely ruled that he would hear amotion to quash the indictment against Browne.

TWO MEN LOCKED UP.

Two men giving the names of William Miller and Roy Smith were locked up by Sergeant Puppert and Patrolman Spillner this morning and are held for investigation.

BALLINGER FIRES THE BUSY KERBY

Stenographer Who Blew Up the Lawler Sensation Grilled and Canned.

SIZZLING LETTER FROM SECRETARY

Accused Cabinet Officer Shows He is in Very Mussy Temper.

Washington, May 16.—Frederick M. Kerby, the stenographer in the office of the secretary of the interior, who on Saturday issued a statement regarding the Lawler memorandum on the Glavis charges to the president, was discharged from the government service by Secretary Ballinger.

In a stinging letter dismissing Kerby "for the good of the service," Secretary Ballinger said that the stenographer "was unworthy to remain in it."

"The fact that your treachery," said the secretary, "is futile cannot mitigate the character of your offense."

The Letter to Kerby.

The text of the letter is as follows:

"May 16, 1910.—Sir: You are hereby discharged from the public service because you are unworthy to remain in it.

"In divulging information obtained by you in the confidential relation of stenographer to the secretary of the interior; in communicating that information to those whom you are bound to know are wrongfully seeking to bring reproach upon the administration and to injure me; and in deliberately misstating material facts as to which you did treacherously communicate, you show that you are unworthy and unsafe. The fact that your treachery is futile cannot mitigate the character of your offense. For the good of the service you are hereby dismissed.

"Respectfully,
"R. A. BALLINGER,
"Secretary.

"MR. FREDERICK M. KERBY,
"Washington, D. C."

Mr. Taft Writes Again.

President Taft superimposed last night another sensation upon those which have occurred in the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy. He adopted the unusual course of addressing a letter to Senator Nelson, chairman of the joint investigating committee, which is considered by members of the committee as one of the remarkable features of the record.

In this letter the president assumes full responsibility:

For authorizing Assistant Attorney General Lawler to write, as if he were president, a letter exonerating Ballinger.

For using certain paragraphs and sentences in the final draft of the letter which he finally signed.

For the predating by Attorney General Wickersham of the opinion of the Glavis charges which he wrote for the president's guidance.

Kerby Saw It Coming.

In discussing the subject of his discharge today, Kerby said the secretary's action had not been a surprise to him. "Of course, when I issued my statement," he added, "I realized that the secretary would take some such action. As to the charges made by Secretary Ballinger against me, I am perfectly willing to leave to the judgment of the people of the country as to whether I acted treacherously or patriotically and I feel entirely certain that the general verdict will be in my favor. At any rate, I think that Secretary Ballinger is not an excellent judge of ethics."

Text of Taft's Letter.

Following is the text of the Taft letter:

"In the hearings before the committee to investigate the interior department and forestry service, reference has been made to my decision upon the complaint and charges of L. R. Glavis filed with me on the 18th of Au-

BIG LINER IS DISABLED.

Kronland Breaks a Shaft and is Tied Up at Southhampton.

Southhampton, May 16.—The disabled steamer Kronland, of the Red Star line, arrived here today and will be tied up for several days for repairs. The Kronland left Antwerp Saturday for New York and broke a shaft soon after putting to sea. She was unable to make her stop at Dover but proceeded here under a single screw. The steamer carries more than a thousand passengers.

ROOSEVELT HAS REACHED LONDON

As Special Ambassador to Edward's Funeral is Received by King.

ARRIVAL A VERY QUIET AFFAIR

Visits George V. at Marlborough House—Views Body of Edward.

London, May 16.—Theodore Roosevelt, special American ambassador to the funeral of King Edward VII, arrived in London this morning, was received by King George at Marlborough house and later visited the throne room in Buckingham palace, where the body of the late monarch is privately lying in state.

The entrance into the city of the distinguished American was a quiet one and in marked contrast with his appearance at other capitals and with what would have been made of the occasion here, but for the demise of the British ruler.

Small Crowd at Station.

It was Whit-Monday holiday, but despite this fact the popular crowd at Victoria station was a small one. There was no cheering, but as Mr. Roosevelt alighted from the train and was escorted by Ambassador Reid to the royal carriage, which had been sent for him, those who looked on silently lifted their hats. The Roosevelt party, which included Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Roosevelt and Kermit, left Berlin at noon yesterday and reached Flushing, Holland, last midnight. They continued upon the regular train to Queensborough, England, where a special train was in waiting for them and which preceded the regular express to London, arriving at Victoria station fifteen minutes earlier than the regular train, which followed at 7:45 o'clock.

Aides de Camp Join Him.

At Queensborough Mr. Roosevelt was joined by aides de camp appointed to attend upon him by King George, Lord Dundonald and Commander Charles E. F. Cunninghame Graham, and by Vice Admiral Sir George Neville, commanding a division of the home fleet, who received the former president in the name of the king.

The transfer to the special was successfully made and at 6 o'clock the party proceeded for this city, which was reached at 7:30 o'clock. It had been supposed that Mr. Roosevelt would arrive on the regular train, and this fact may have accounted in part for the comparatively small crowd at the station.

Those Who Met Him.

Upon the station platform awaiting the Roosevelts were Ambassador and Mrs. Reid and the members of the American embassy and their wives, all dressed in mourning; Consul General Griffiths and the staff of the consulate; Robert J. Wynne, former American consul general at London; Ogden M. Reid, son of the ambassador, and a small group of Americans resident here. There was no music, waving of flags or other demonstration. When the greetings had been exchanged Lord Dundonald escorted the Roosevelts and Ambassador and Mrs. Reid to the royal carriage, which had been placed at their disposal by the king, and they were driven at once to Dorchester house, the home of the ambassador. Later, accompanied by Mr. Reid, Mr. Roosevelt in the capacity of special American ambassador, visited the king at Marlborough house.

Sees Body of Dead King.

Following his reception by the monarch he was escorted to Buckingham palace, shown into the throne room, where upon the catafalque reposes the body of King Edward. Mr. Roosevelt was accompanied to the palace by Mrs. Roosevelt and the members of the embassy and their wives. The Victorin station is closely picketed and patrolled by the police. Every entrance and exit is guarded and all applicants for admission are scrutinized. This precaution is taken for the protection of all the members of royalty and other official representatives who are coming here for the funeral. In the course of the forenoon Mr. Roosevelt called upon the Duke and Duchess of Connaught at Clarence house.

METER CASE IS SET FOR A HEARING JUNE 2

Application for Permanent Injunction to be Tried.

Judge Heaton has set down for hearing on June 2, in the superior court, the application for a permanent injunction in the suit brought to prevent the city from letting a contract to the Pittsburg Meter company under an award made by the board of public works several weeks ago.

A temporary injunction has been granted in the matter and the contract under which it is proposed to put the water consumers under an universal meter system, has been tied up pending a settlement of the matter in the courts.

Irelan Suit Dismissed.

After a room full of witnesses and interested spectators had assembled in the superior court today to hear the divorce suit of Susie Irelan against Wayne Irelan, she dismissed the action. The husband filed a cross-complaint some time ago and afterwar dismissed it.

All Property to Wife.

Under the will of Barnhart Goepfert, probated in the circuit court today, all of his property is left to his wife who is made sole executrix without a bond.

Wife Seeks Support.

Maria L. Deffenbaugh, alleged that her husband, who is employed at the Fort Wayne Rolling mills is an habitual drunkard and does not support her, asks that he be required to pay her $75 a month. She alleges that he makes $150 a month. They were married in 1906 and lived together until May 10.

In her divorce complaint against Edwin Rabel, Josephine Rabel says that he slapped her one time at a large gathering, called her bad names and chocked her. She also says he wrongfully accused her of infidelity and called her vile names. They were married August 15, 1905, and lived together until today. Judge R. B. Dreibelbiss filed the suit.

Applicants for opsitions as clerk and carrier at the Fort Wayne postoffice must make application by mail to Cincinnati by Saturday next in order to be eligible for the civil service examination on May 28.

DRUNKEN SON BEATS MOTHER AND IS FINED

Enraged Because She Asked Him for Money—City Court Cases.

Frank Spangler, calculating from the basis on which Judge Frank Mungovan generally works when he is fining men for licking women, got off pretty easy today when he was fined $10 and costs and given ninety days in jail for beating his mother.

He drew some money Saturday and went to Gearhart's saloon in Bloomingdale, according to the testimony given by Mrs. Ellen Spangler, the mother, and when she went there and asked him to pay board for himself and his wife and child he jumped into the buggy in which she was sitting, blacked her eye and beat her about the body until she was black and blue.

The wife says he drinks up all his money and that he was drunk when he came out of the saloon on Saturday. He has been before the court before and it is charged that he drew $78 of pay and was generous enough to give his wife $15. His mother says he has paid her $50 during the last year and that she has spent most of that for medicine and a doctor's care for his sick baby.

Wilken Case Continued.

A continuance was asked and granted in the case of John H. Wilken, the Spy Run druggist charged with selling liquor without a prescription from a physician. There had been some complaint to the police that Wilken was selling whisky on Sunday and Chief Elliott sent Lieutenant Eisenhut and Bailiff Hall out Sunday to investigate. They succeeded in buying a bottle of whisky and then arrested him.

The Other Cases.

WHAT HAPPENED TO ONE OF COUNT ZEPPELIN'S SKY MONSTERS.

WRECK OF THE ZEPPELIN II. NEAR WEILBURG. Photo by Paul Thiessen

The Zeppelin II. was the largest of the German military airships, and was destroyed April 25 near Weilburg during an unsuccessful effort to make a flight from Cologne to Homburg. Three of the German dirigibles, the Zeppelin II., the Gross II. and the Parseval, made a successful voyage from Homburg to Cologne, where their arrival was witnessed by the emperor and their pilots were decorated. On the return trip they encountered unfavorable weather and only the Parseval succeeded in reaching Homburg under its own power. The Zeppelin II. was nearly five hundred feet in length and forty-five feet in diameter and capable of carrying twenty-five passengers, in addition to the crew.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

COUNCIL SOUGHT TO CUT HIS PAY

Tried to Reduce Salary of Marshal of Andrews from $30 to $15 a Month.

Andrews, Ind., May 16.—In the fight between the "economy members" of the council of Andrews and the town marshal the latter has won out and he will continue to draw his $30 a month salary. Some of the members of the council got the idea in their head that $30 a month was too much to pay Marshal Shenefield for the arduous duties he performs as chief of police, chief of the fire department, and commissioner of public works, and concluded they would cut his pay down to $15 a month. When the council met, it was all fixed up, but the marshal was there. When the motion was put to pay the protector of the public safety only the $15, Shenefield arose on his feet in a minute. He told the assembled councilmen that it would be $30 or nothing. This speech of the marshal turned the tide and by one vote his salary of $30 a month was continued.

LAGRANGE ON THE LINE.

The Interurban Road Connecting Toledo and Chicago.

Lagrange, Ind., May 16.—Elkhart is to be connected direct with Toledo by an interurban line. Construction from Angola to Metz has already been started, according to the statement of H. E. Bucklen, owner of the Valley line.

The Toledo Traction company has agreed to extend its line to the Indiana-Ohio border at Metz, Ind., where an extension of the Valley Line will connect. Mr. Bucklen said that preparatory work on his extension of the Valley line from Angola to Metz has already begun. Right of way is now being purchased, and he stated that graders would have been at work by this time had it not been for the scarcity of teams in that vicinity.

With the completion of the connecting link of the Toledo Traction company and the Valley line, and the extension of the Hanna line from South Bend to Elkhart, Lagrange will be on a direct interurban route connecting Chicago and Toledo.

NEW WARSAW PASTOR.

Rev. J. M. Eakins Will Be Installed at Presbyterian Church.

Warsaw, Ind., May 16.—Next Sunday Rev. J. M. Eakins, who has been occupying the pulpit in the Presbyterian church since Rev. E. H. Montgomery accepted a call to Aurora, Ill., will be formally installed as pastor of the Presbyterian church. The former pastor, Rev. Montgomery, will be present and have a part in the installation service and the ceremonies will be impressive and interesting. The sermon on that occasion will be preached by Rev. Sol. C. Dickey, secretary and general manager of the Winona assembly and schools, and Dr. Frank N. Palmer, of Winona Lake, will deliver the charge to the new pastor.

FOUND DEAD WITH $1,246.

Veteran of the Marion Soldiers' Home Had Money on Person.

Soldiers' Home, Marion, Ind., May 16.—Patrick McCarthy, 88, was found dead in his bed in the Old Men's barracks, No. 14, Saturday morning. McCarthy was a pensioner receiving $20 a month, but he was found to have a sum of $1,246 on his person at the time of his death. He has been a member of the home about fifteen years. Death was probably due to cerebral hemorrhage.

SENT TO SANITARIUM.

Bluffton, Ind., May 16.—Worry and despondency because of the death two weeks ago of his sister, Mrs. Andrew Holsinger, has resulted in a condition of melancholia in the case of Homer Murray, 21, living with his mother, Mrs. James Harrold, near Mt. Zion, and resulted in his being taken to a private sanitarium at Indianapolis yesterday for treatment after he had made two attempts to commit suicide.

SAYS HIS DEFEAT WAS DUE TO "WETS"

Auburn Attorney Withdraws from Race for Republican Nomination for Circuit Judge.

Auburn, Ind., May 16.—The withdrawal of Attorney J. E. Pomeroy, of this city, from the race for the republican nomination for judge of the circuit court of the DeKalb-Steuben district, the announcement of his withdrawal having been made Saturday, leaves but two candidates in the contest, P. V. Hoffman, of this city, and H. W. Mountz, of Garrett.

The primaries for the selection of delegates to the nominating convention was held last week in this county. Mr. Pomeroy did not succeed in securing enough delegates to warrant him in continuing in the race and hence he announced his withdrawal through a communication published in the Auburn papers.

He ascribes his defeat to the "wet" element in the republican party, using the following words in speaking of this phase of the campaign:

"The character of the campaign waged against me in Auburn is well known. I believe it was unfortunate for all parties concerned that the old issue was drawn into the campaign; but that it was through no effort of my own. However, I am pleased that those who opposed me were kind enough to place me on the side of law and order."

Mr. Mountz has secured a majority of the delegates in this county. The primaries were held in Steuben county Saturday and from reports received here Mountz also won out in that county. It is thought he will get the nomination. Mr. Mountz is a pronounced "dry" man and was active in the recent option fight in this county. His opponent, Mr. Hoffman, is being supported by the "wet" element in the party.

The nominating convention will be held next Friday at Waterloo in this county.

GRANT COUNTY DEMOCRATS.

Met at Marion and Nominated County Ticket.

Marion, Ind., May 16.—The democrats of Grant county Saturday nominated the following ticket at a convention held in Marion:

State Senator—M. M. Kilgore.
State Representatives — William Hayes and Jerome Schaffer.
Circuit Judge—Patrick H. Elliott.
Prosecuting Attorney—Thomas B. Dicken.
County Treasurer—W. P. Van Arsdall.
Auditor—Fred Sweetser.
County Clerk—Charles Leer.
Sheriff—Ephraim Nelson.
County Assessor—Luther T. Hale.
Coroner—Dr. A. A. Shannahan.

Mr. Kilgore was nominated for senator on the first ballot over two other candidates. Mr. Leer was named for county clerk on the first ballot over Amafa Wade. Mr. Nelson's nomination for sheriff was made on the second ballot over two other candidates. The other nominations were made without a fight.

HEIRESS TO LEGACY

Gave the Banquet to the House of David.

Wabash, Ind., May 16.—Mrs. Lula Bauske, formerly Miss Lula Gwyn, who is a member of the House of David, or Israelites, who have a colony at Benton Harbor, arrived in Wabash Saturday to hold street services. Here she learned she was an heiress of her grandmother, who died recently leaving her $600. She announced she would give all of this money to the House of David. She and her husband have just returned from seven years spent in Australia, where they introduced their strange belief and founded two colonies. The sect is vegetarian and wear a garb peculiar to themselves.

DIED IN NEBRASKA.

Kendallville, Ind., May 16.—Mrs. John Oetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Sprandle, of this city, died at Ewing, Neb., aged 32 years. Mrs. Oetter was formerly Miss Sophia Sprandle, of this city, and was married last June to Mr. Oetter, and left for the west last July. She is survived by a number of relatives, including the parents in this city. The remains will be brought here for burial.

MINER SOLD INTEREST.

South Whitley, Ind., May 16.—F. E. Miner has sold his one-third interest in the Atoz Printing company and the News Printing company, to his partners J. W. and E. R. Hibbard, of New York and Chicago, and has retired from the concern.

WILL DELIVER ADDRESS.

Columbia City, Ind., May 16.—A. A. Adams, of this city, has received an invitation to deliver the commencement address before the Lafayette high school graduating class from the school board and class committee and has sent his acceptance. The commencement occurs on June 9th.

MARRIED AT GARRETT.

Garrett, Ind., May 16.—Harley G. Reynolds and Miss Rosa Mason, both of Corunna, were married in this city today by the Rev. Mr. Hoover, pastor of the German Lutheran church, the ceremony taking place at the church parsonage.

GET AFTER SPEED MANIACS.

There is no call for the police department to ignore violators of the speed ordinances until specific cases of personal injury develop. The ordinances are not purposed for the punishment of violators after injuries have been inflicted, but to protect the public from injury. The arrest and fining of a young man whose reckless use of a motorcycle wrought great injury to an aged woman will doubtless have a salutary effect on riders of that description of vehicle, and well if it be so, for they have become numerous in this city and in most cases seem to be driven with utter disregard of the speed ordinances. But the motorcyclists are not the only offenders. There are automobile drivers who are just as reckless and these, too, should be brought to account. We do not believe the majority of automobile owners are obsessed by the speed mania and it ought to be found by these that their own interests and pleasure lie in the direction of having the speed laws observed. At all events, there is a deal of reckless driving both of automobiles and motorcycles and the police should put a stop to it.

TAFT AND BALLINGER.

Of President Taft's frankness and courage there have been many proofs and his assumption of all responsibility for what has been done in the Ballinger whitewashing is quite characteristic of him. The secretary is at least nominally his personal choice for the position that gentleman holds in the cabinet and the president, so long as he is satisfied with the Ballinger policies and the Ballinger conduct of office, it is doing no less than his duty to stand by him. But it is evident that the president is taking overmuch for granted in the case of his secretary of the interior.

Beginning with the "clean bill of health" he gave Ballinger on the occasion of Louis R. Glavis' discharge from the government service last fall the president has consistently endorsed all the defenses that have been prepared in Ballinger's behalf. It has been brought out that the Wickersham summary of the Glavis case upon which the president's grilling of Glavis and vindication of Ballinger was based had been prepared after and not before the presidential pronunciamento had been delivered. The charge that this was true had long lain unanswered, when last week Attorney Brandeis forced the attorney general to come out and admit the truth of the charge. Saturday a sensational development came through the statement of a subordinate in the interior department who declared the Ballinger defense issued by the president had been prepared by Oscar Lawler, law officer of the interior department, in collaboration with Ballinger. At once from the white house came the authorized statement that "with reference to the published affidavit of F. M. Kerby * * * that the president's letter of Sept. 13, 1909, exonerating Secretary Ballinger was substantially prepared for the president's signature by Assistant Attorney General Lawler, it was said at the white house today that there is absolutely no foundation for any such statement."

This was followed Sunday night by a signed statement from the president admitting that Lawler had been authorized to write, quite as if he were president, a letter exonerating Ballinger; that he had used certain paragraphs and sentences of Lawler's statement in the final draft of the letter which he signed; that he was responsible for the pre-dating of the Wickersham summary.

President Taft is extremely ingenuous in all his admissions and shows great courage in his public statement. But what must be thought of the case of Ballinger in whose behalf all these extraordinary performances are found necessary? The president is helping neither Ballinger nor himself. His embarrassments multiply as the "inside" of the affair develops. Mr. Taft has gone great lengths to save his secretary of the interior. It now is time for Ballinger to do something in behalf of his generous chief.

The comet experts have as much trouble getting together as medical experts in a capital case. Any sort of opinion desired can be had by going after it.

If William will some time just cross over and be a guest at Sagamore Hill he will be shown strictly the time of his life.

Mr. Ballinger is certainly making his chief go the fast gait to keep him in the procession.

DOCTORS COME TOMORROW.

Twelfth Councillor District Medical Society in Fort Wayne.

Physicians from all over northern Indiana will come to Fort Wayne tomorrow for the meeting of the Twelfth Councillor District Medical society, which will hold three sessions in this city. The first will be a clinic at Hope hospital from 9 to 12 o'clock, conducted by Dr. M. F. Porter, Dr. A. E. Bulson, jr., and Dr. L. P. Drayer.

In the assembly room of the court house at 1:30 in the afternoon Dr. C. E. Beall, of Fort Wayne, will read a paper on "Cyclic Vomiting," the discussion of which will be led by Drs. H. D. Wood, of Angola; Shoemaker, of Butler, and B. P. Weaver, of Fort Wayne. At the afternoon session several cases will be presented by Dr. G. W. McCaskey. State President T. C. Kennedy will speak on "Medical Organization," and Dr. F. A. Tucker, of Indianapolis, on "The Anti-Tuberculosis Movement in Indiana." A paper to be read by Dr. C. E. Barnett will be discussed by Drs. B. W. Rhamy, Fort Wayne; G. W. Lake, Wolcottville, and Fred Metz, Ossian.

The evening session will be held at the Jewish temple, where Dr. M. P. Ravenel, of Madison, Wis., will discuss "The Transmission of Bovine Tuberculosis to Man." Dr. Ravenel is chief of the bacteriological department of the University of Wisconsin and one of the recognized authorities on bacteriology.

INVITES COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Business Men Are Asked to Witness Play Festival.

Miss Gail Calmerton, supervisor of primary instruction in the city schools, has addressed a letter to the Commercial club inviting the members of that organization to attend the free kindergarten play festival to be given at Princess rink from 3 to 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, May 28. At this time the children will be seen in the regular games as played in the kindergartens of the city schools, and one phase of kindergarten work will be demonstrated.

WOULD OPEN LAWTON PLACE.

Petition Asks for Its Extension to Wells Street.

Petitions are now being signed by residents in the Spy Run district asking that Lawton place be opened and extended westward from Spy Run avenue to Wells street. The line in contemplation would carry the street along the south line of the St. Vincent and its western terminus would be long the south line of the St. Vincent orphan asylum property.

gust last against Secretary Ballinger and certain other officials of the interior department. The majority of the committee have decided that my action was not within the jurisdiction of the committee to investigate. In spite of this ruling, references to the matter have crept into the record. For this reason I deem it proper to write you and state with such accuracy as my memory permits what the facts are.

"Glavis' statement and charges were left with me by him on August 18, 1909. I turned them over to the attorney general, who happened to be in the neighborhood, and he made notes upon his reading. We both had personal knowledge in respect to Secretary Ballinger's attitude towards the Alaska coal claims, which was the chief subject of innuendo and complaint, for Mr. Ballinger had early in the administration consulted us both regarding them.

Conclude Jealousy is Cause.

"Within two or three days after the filing of the charges, at a meeting at which the secretary of the treasury, the attorney general, and the secretary of the navy were present, a full discussion of the Glavis statement was had. It resulted in a general conclusion that jealousy between the bureaus of the interior department and the forestry bureau probably explained the attitude of the interior department officials, but that the intimations of bad faith by Glavis against Mr. Ballinger and the others required that the statement be submitted to them for answer.

"Accordingly copies of the statement were sent to Secretary Ballinger, to Assistant Secretary Peirce, to Commissioner Dennett, and to Chief of Field Service Schwartz.

"Mr. Ballinger was at Seattle, but upon receipt of the charges he came to Washington to prepare his answer. On Monday, Sept. 6, Mr. Ballinger reached Beverly, accompanied by Mr. Lawler, the assistant attorney general of the department of justice, assigned to the interior department.

Goes Over Charges Carefully.

"Mr. Ballinger sent to my house on that day the answers of the various persons concerned, together with a voluminous record of exhibits. I had a conference with him the evening of the day he came, Sept. 6, and then on the following evening, Sept. 7. I talked over the charges with Mr. Ballinger the first evening and asked such questions as suggested themselves, without intimating any conclusion, and said that I would examine the answers and the record, and would see him the next day.

"I sat up until 3 o'clock that night reading the answers and exhibits, so that at my next conference I was advised of the contents of the entire record, and had made up my mind that there was nothing in the charges upon which Mr. Ballinger or the others accused could be found guilty of either incompetency, inefficiency, disloyalty to the interests of the government, or dishonesty.

"In the discussions of the second evening Mr. Lawler, who was present at my suggestion, discussed the evidence at some length. I said to Mr. Lawler that I was anxious to write a full statement of the case, and set out the reasons for my decision, but that the time for my departure on a long western trip, occupying two months, was just one week from that day; that I had six or seven speeches to deliver at the beginning of that journey, and that I could not give the time to the preparation of such a detailed statement, and opinion as I would like to render in the matter. I therefore requested Mr. Lawler to prepare an opinion as if he were president.

Receives Draft from Lawler.

"During the 8th, 9th and 10th I gave such consideration to the Glavis record as was consistent with previous engagements, but paid no attention to the speeches. On the 9th I telegraphed the attorney-general to come to Beverly in order that I might consult him in respect to the case.

"He arrived there Saturday afternoon, Sept. 11, and, pursuant to an appointment made by telephone, he came to my home on Sunday morning, Sept. 12. He then delivered to me the draft of opinion prepared by Mr. Lawler and said that he had had an opportunity on coming from New York to read the answers of Mr. Ballinger and others. I then said to him that I had made up my mind as to my conclusions and had drafted part of my opinion, but that I wished him to examine the full record and bring me his conclusions before I stated mine. He took the whole record away.

"During the day I examined the draft opinion of Mr. Lawler, but its thirty pages did not state the case in the way in which I wished it stated. It contained references to the evidence which were useful, but its criticisms of Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Glavis I did not think it proper or wise to adopt. I only used a few paragraphs from it containing merely general statements.

Asked Analysis from Aid.

"The attorney general returned in the evening with notes of the examination which he had made, and reported to me the conclusions which he had reached, which were in substantial accord with my own. We then discussed the matter at some length, particularly some point of law which were involved, and took up the opinion which I had finished and made a number of alterations, and as the result of that discussion, I determined the final form which I employed and signed the same on Monday, Sept. 13.

"The conclusions which I reached were based upon my reading of the record, and were fortified by the oral analysis of the evidence and the conclusions which the attorney general me, using the notes which he had made during his reading of the record.

"I was sorry not to be able to employ this analysis in my opinion, but time did not permit. I therefore directed him to embody in a written statement such analysis and conclusions as he had given me, file it with the record, and date it prior to the date of my opinion, so as to show that my decision was fortified by his summary of the evidence and his conclusions therefrom.

HEALTH TALKS BY PROF. FLYNN

After all this on what to eat, somebody will rise up and ask, "What about tea and coffee? Must sugar be avoided entirely?" and many similar questions. It is impossible to cover every item in humanity's menu, and give the reasons for and against. But what I want to do is to establish some principles and allow each reader to work out his own salvation—on them and by them, if he is able to accept them as sound.

First, recurring to the doctrine of use, the stomach is made to receive food and drink and nothing else. Always regard its use and you are safe. Food and drink are required to nourish the body, and the stomach is the first general receptacle and scene of important processes in preparing the pabulum for the blood and tissues. Try every food substance with your reason, until your sense and food instinct are normal?

Is coffee either food or drink? No. The water in the coffee is a drink. The coffee berry is not a drink. Neither is it a food. Chemical analysis shows this. The simpler method of trying it with taste—say an infant's sense of taste—will reject it. There is nothing in the bitter taste of the green coffee berry to suggest eating it to a man in a state of nature. He would as soon think of eating bitter-sweet berries, sooner, for they are attractive to the eye, and as birds eat them they contain nutritive matter.

Sugar is different. While it is not a food in the full sense of the word, it is nevertheless, a proximate food element, and so its use in moderation to sweeten fruits so sour that otherwise they would not be suitable for food, is allowable in this day where the ideal and absolutely natural diet is not likely to be fully adopted. Cranberries make a not unwholesome sauce, when sweetened just enough to be palatable. They could only be used sparingly as a constituent of salads, otherwise. But a warning: Train yourself to like the acid in fruits, if you wish to eat acid fruits; do not add so much sugar that the acid is completely neutralized and its value lost.

Vinegar is the product of fermentation, and like all such products, is destructive rather than constructive. That is, in the living body it does not lend itself to the normal operations of the system, because by nature antagonistic to them. What does it do to fruits and vegetables? It pickles them, preserves them from decay. And since digestion is a process of disintegration, whatever prevents the disintegration or decay, outside the stomach, will also prevent digestion within the stomach. Natural foods are ready for digestion. Natural foods are always certain period subject to heat and moisture.

Lemon juice makes a substitute for vinegar in French dressing, and is so superior to it that no one will want to return to vinegar after using lemon juice awhile. After a year or so, he will find on putting vinegar on his salad, that it is acid and unwholesome tasting. Thus do we recover our invaluable guide in the choice of food.

Pepper is of two kinds. Black and white pepper are made from the seeds of the same plant, and few defend the use of either. Red pepper, on the other hand, is believed by many to be "medicinal."

Other spices are harmful in the order of their pungency. Some of the milder may be harmless if used in moderation. Still, this is a permission we should grant ourselves cautiously. It is an excellent thing to enjoy food for its own special flavors, and not to eat foods which, to the normal sense, are tasteless. Such foods are deficient in the properties which the sense of taste instinctively recognizes as belonging to the food required by the system.

Lard, as a fat for shortening and frying, is an abomination. The hog, from which it is derived, is wholly unfit for food. Animal fats in general are less wholesome than vegetable fats. The vegetable kingdom affords abundant oil for food purposes, and even now at prices making them more economical than animal fats. Should the demand for vegetable fats increase so as to turn agriculture and manufacture more extensively in the direction of producing them, they could be much less expensive than now. Olive oil, peanut oil and cottonseed oil are the leading oils for cooking and table use. The last is cheaper than lard, and if good brands are employed, makes an excellent shortening.

Pie is a much-discussed and much-liked dish. What of pie? If we were returning to absolutely natural foods, we should, of course, have no pie, because no flour, no fat (as such), no sugar and no cooked fruit. But it is agreed that flour of the "entire" brand may be made into wholesome foods, that fats and sugar are allowable in moderation and in their places. If bread and butter and cooked and sweetened fruit may be eaten to advantage, then there is no valid objection to pie. Pie, like fruit shortcakes, properly made, is, in my opinion, a wholesome dish, and it certainly makes a complete food by reason of the elements contained. Make your pies of acid and sub-acid fruit, do not oversweeten, use plenty of the fruit and the least possible crust. Make the crust of vegetable oil—not too short—and whole-wheat flour and water. Bake them brown. Eat them after they have cooled. Don't add them to an already full meal.

To eat when hungry would be the proper thing, because it would be the natural thing. And this would vary with individuals and conditions. But it would also be inconvenient in the present condition of society. It would, however, not be impracticable to omit eating until hungry, and then to eat as soon as possible thereafter. Why not do it? Those who adopt the simple diet could do so without disturbing the order of a whole household. But for those who prefer something conventional, let us say that two meals a day, one at midday, and the other at the close of the day, are about right. To those who are not familiar with the reasons for omitting the early morning meal, I will say briefly, that the body does not need food after a night of sleep until enough labor has been done to call for stimulant and repairs of tissue. The healthy man rises in the morning, his last meal disposed of, and his system fully nourished and ready for work. Digestion is work. Food is not demanded. Why, then, set the digestive apparatus at work to provide sustenance against future time of need? Superfluous! Waste of energy. You rob yourself of part of the energy which otherwise would go to your tasks. They are harder after eating than before, because part of your energy is drawn off to take care of that food. Is it plain to you? If not, try the experiment faithfully and affirmatively for a month. Note the time saved, the strength saved, and the food saved. Note, too, the increased stomach endurance acquired. Now you can go without another meal and not mind it nearly as much as you did to miss a meal on the old regime. The last is positive proof that it is a benefit to you.

Two seemingly inconsistent rules for eating are, to chew and to be social, laugh and talk and have a good time. But they are not incompatible, provided you first give careful attention to the chewing for a month or so, until your subconscious mind is able to attend to that matter without further thought on your part. When you have achieved this—and in some cases it will take more time, but it is possible to any one in the course of time—then you are fitted to eat in society and to make mealtime a merry time, as it should be, where genial humors and pleasant chat abound.

Mastication to be perfect, should reduce all foods except meat to a liquid. Meat is better digested if swallowed in chunks, as now all newspaper readers know, since Dr. Wiley, government chemist, has given out. The same doctrine was taught years ago by Dr. Charles E. Page, who showed that mastication of meat caused fermentation, and, as he declares, this is another indication that meat is not the natural food of man.

By the thorough mastication of food, Horace Fletcher and others have shown, the appetite for meat gradually disappears. And again Nature is justified. Every step on the return to Nature helps to other steps.

IN THE CITY'S CHURCHES

WILL JOIN IN EFFORT TO HAVE CHILD LABOR BILL PASS

Two Hundred at First Presbyterian Church Petition Congress.

At the close of the morning services at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning resolutions were adopted to have a petition signed and forwarded to congress, asking the legislators to pass the Beveridge child labor bill. The action was taken at the close of a sermon by Rev. H. B. Master on "Child Labor." Rev. Master presented the subject with much force. He spoke of the necessary training of the child to make for his physical well being, as well as for the character building necessary for good citizenship and the promotion of the race through the family. He deplored the effort of the crushing influences of hotbeds of manufacturing industries and urged the people to hear the cry for sympathy and help from the little children employed in the mills and other manufactories.

After the adopting of resolutions there were affixed to the petition two hundred names. Rev. Master has charge of sending the resolutions and petition to Washington.

It is likely that other churches will take the matter up. The Fort Wayne Federation of Labor and the Woman's league have already taken action regarding the movement.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH WILL OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY AND FEAST

Rev. John Hopkins to Preach Here Trinity Sunday, May 22.

The patronal feast of Trinity Episcopal church and sixth anniversary of Rev. E. W. Averill's apointment as its rector will be auspiciously celebrated on the Feast of the Blessed Trinity, Sunday, May 22. The local congregation will be favored on that day with the presence of Rev. John Henry Hopkins, secretary of the fifth department of the Episcopal church. Dr. Hopkins is regarded as one of the most eloquent and forceful speakers among the Episcopal clergy and his coming visit is anticipated with pleasure.

There will be a corporate communion of the whole parish at 7:30 a. m. Sunday morning, and the congregation is urged by its rector to make the attendance the largest in its history. In the afternoon the women of the church will meet at 3 o'clock and will be addressed by Mrs. Hopkins. She is a woman of charming personality and her talk will be replete with interest for one and all attending. Evensong will be held at 4:30 p. m. and a sermon will be preached by the rector.

Since his appointment as rector of Trinity church in this city Rev. E. W. Averill has been highly successful in his labors. He is held in high esteem not only by his congregation but by scores of friends not of the Episcopal denomination. He will enter Sunday upon the seventh year of his activities here and hence is wished continued and abundant success.

MEN MEET TONIGHT.

Ministers and Laymen at Wayne Street M. E. Church.

Inasmuch as it has been decided to organize the Men's Missionary movement in Fort Wayne before the enthusiasm of the Chicago congress has been forgotten, members of the Ministerial association and three laymen from each of the city and county churches are requested to meet this evening at Wayne Street Methodist Episcopal church, corner West Wayne street and Broadway. Rev. H. F. LaFlamme, of Indianapolis, is expected to arrive in the city today and will address the men this evening.

The meeting is preliminary to a much larger gathering which will be held later, when all the men of all the churches will be invited to attend. There is much interest on the part of the ministers in this movement.

There will be a meeting of the congregation of Trinity English Lutheran church at 8 o'clock this evening.

The joint meeting of the Ladies' Aid society and the Missionary society of Grace Reformed church to have been held at the Reformed Orphans' home on Thursday, has been postponed to a week later.

Held Anniversary Meeting.

Meetings and services of unusual interest to the congregation of Grace Reformed church were held both morning and evening yesterday as it was the twenty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the church and the close of the twenty-second year of service of the pastor, Rev. Dr. A. K. Zartman.

Special music had been prepared for the day and contributed greatly to the beauty of the services. In the morning the large choir sang Haydn's "Heavens Are Telling," and in the evening a cantata called "Out of Darkness Into Light." There were five charter members of the church present at the morning services. They were Mrs. A. C. Katt, Mrs. Philip Heyman, Mrs. Kate Ceryia, Mrs. Mary Richards and Mrs Habecker. Dr. Zartman's morning topic was "The Church of the Living God, the Pillar and Ground of Truth."

The District School.

The young people's society of the Church of the Redeemer have decided to repeat a comedy sketch, "The District School," which was given a year ago on May 27, at Walther league hall, corner of Barr and Madison streets. It takes about twenty people to present the sketch and in addition to it there will be music by the Walther league orchestra and a number of other features. Rehearsals have already been held and the members of the society are busy selling tickets.

REMAINS TO REST IN CRYPT BENEATH CATHEDRAL

President of Notre Dame to Preach Funeral of Rev. P. F. Roche.

In accordance with the request of relatives, the remains of the late Rev. Father Roche will be laid to rest in the crypt beneath the Cathedral, of which he had been pastor for ten years prior to his death. It had been the orignal intention to have the interment occur at the Catholic cemetery, and the change has been made with the consent of Rt. Rev. Bishop Alerding.

All that is mortal of the dead priest will therefore find a resting place in close proximity to the remains of Bishops Luers, Dwenger and Rademacher, Vicar General Benoit and Vicar General Brammer, who were buried beneath the Cathedral.

Members of the Married Men's sodality of the Cathedral will supply a guard of honor about the remains of the late Rev. Father Patrick F. Roche, and will remain constantly on duty at the Cathedral from the moment the casket is taken to the church at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon until the funeral service for the dead rector on Wednesday morning.

It is expected that President John Cavanaugh, of Notre Dame university, will deliver the funeral sermon, and in case he is unable to be present, another member of the faculty of Notre Dame will officiate in his stead. Rt. Rev. Bishop Alerding will celebrate pontifical requiem mass. The remains will lie in state at the Cathedral from Tuesday afternoon until the funeral, but it has been decided to close the casket at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Pall-bearers selected include J. B. Niezer, R. W. T. DeWald, A. C. Aurantz, John Woulfe, W. H. Dreier and Dennis Gorman. Redmond Roche, father of the dead pastor, and other relatives will reach the city this evening from Scranton, Pa., to attend the funeral.

OLD DUNKARDS ARE HOLDING ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Ten Thousand Attend the Big Meeting Near Silver Lake, Ind.

Silver Lake, Ind., May 16.—The annual national conference of German Baptists (old Order of Dunkards) opened eight miles south of this town yesterday with delegates from twenty states and with 10,000 visitors present. Although people began to arrive on the grounds several days ago and preaching services were held all day Saturday the conference proper did not begin until Sunday.

Ever since the establishment of these annual gatherings it has been the custom to feed, free of charge, those who attended the meetings, and in order to accomplish this vast sums of money are expended annually to provide the eatables.

Preaching services began early this morning and were continued throughout the day. Last evening communion services were held and thousands partook of the bread and wine. Prior to these services they held what is called the examination service, in which each one examined himself to see that he is worthy of taking the communion. If he has sinned or has aught against his brother or his fellow man it is the belief of the church that it shall be made right before partaking of the bread and wine.

Following the communion services the footwashing, an ordinance of the church, took place. Today the representatives and delegates from the various congregations throughout the United States met and a standing committee of twelve was selected and they were entrusted with the temporal affairs of the denomination. Tomorrow the delegates will transact such business as may come up before the meeting. The selection of the place of the next conference is one of the most important matters to be looked after and it is thought that the meeting will be held in Pennsylvania next year.

ANOTHER UPRISING FEARED.

Washington, May 16.—Another uprising at Changsha, China, is very much feared. Commander of the United States gunboat Helena has telegraphed the state department from Hankow to the effect that the conditions at Changsha were most serious and that all foreigners were notified officially on the 11th instant to seek refuge on the ships that were available.

The Dukes-Rose-Schirmeyer company has just secured an additional five years' lease upon the Calhoun street store room which it occupies.

C. D. Rarey, at the parsonage of Bethel Evangelical church, at 8 o'clock. Both bride and groom are popular young people and they will make their home for the present with the bride's parents.

MRS. GULDLIN'S ADDRESS.

Fort Wayne Woman Talks of Household Economics Before Convention of Club Women.

At the biennial convention of club women of the United States, which is being held in Cincinnati, Mrs. O. N. Guldlin, of this city, made an address on Saturday before the convention on the subject of Household Economics. Mrs. Guldlin is chairman of the department of the General Federation of Women's clubs and has given much time and work to the furthering of interest in that branch of education. In making her report Mrs. Guldlin stated that it would be impossible to give details of progress in the department as it has broadened out and become general in branches of women's organizations, of clubs, university settlements, departments of agricultural universities, high schools and manual training schools. She declared, too, that household economics means something else besides the homely work of the kitchen, but includes such topics as household sanitation, ventilation, management, expenditures, decoration, food and dietetics and the care of children. It also includes teaching of simpler and better ways of living, doing things in the most intelligent manner and the adoption of modern scientific ways of lessening labor.

A UNION OF SCHOOLS.

School Authorities at New Haven Decide on Plan.

The New Haven public schools have been taken under the supervision of the township. This gives Adams township one good high school instead of two schools as heretofore and insures the town and the township better schools. An addition of a building of three rooms will be built to the present building in New Haven and the high school there now will be among the commissioned high schools of the county.

BOY DROWNED, NOT STOLEN.

New York, May 16.—The body of William Rivers, the 5-year-old boy who had been missing from his home in Flushing, L. I., since May 7 last and who was believed to have been kidnaped by an organ grinder, was found floating in Flushing creek today. The boy showed no marks of violence and the police believe the boy drowned.

STYLISH SHIRT WAIST MODEL.

By MRS. JANE FORD.

645

6 SIZES 32 TO 42 BUST

For serviceable waists, pique and mercerized fabrics are popular, in plain colors as well as in white, and smart designs in both stripes and figures are favorites. And any of these designs will be attractive if developed in a "Gibson" model such as is shown here. The pattern for this waist is cut in six sizes from thirty-two to forty-two inches bust measure.

To copy it in the medium sizes three and one-half yards of goods twenty-seven inches wide, or two and one-half yards thirty-six inches in width will be required.

In this design three small tucks are cleverly introduced on either side of the front. They give a becoming fulness and relieve the stiff, plain look across the bust.

The broad tucks at the shoulders and those at the front should be basted in position and stitched before the seams are sewed.

The waist will not require fitting, but some slight adjustment at the waist line may be necessary.

This is done by placing a tape around the waist and drawing it tightly over the fulness. The fulness must be so arranged that the grain of the goods falls straight from the shoulders.

The tape should be pinned to the material and afterward stitched in place.

The sleeves should be made according to the directions on the label and placed in position to bring the corresponding notches opposite.

The closing should be simple—a plain hem. The buttons used should be of flat pearl, not more than one-half inch in diameter. With a white linen waist of this style colored collars and cuffs are considered smart.

MAYOR GRICE WILL SPEAK.

City Chief Executive to Start Playgrounds Benefit.

Mayor Jesse Grice has accepted an invitation to give the Playgrounds benefit an official start, and before the curtain raises on the first performance of "Forty-five Minues From Broadway" this evening the mayor will speak briefly upon the playgrounds movement and the effort in its behalf.

Authorities in charge of the one playgrounds now in operation at Clinton and Holman streets say that during the past two weeks more than 1,400 children have visited the spot and enjoyed its pleasures. Almost continuously while the children are at play a crowd of interested spectators can be found watching them from the street.

GOOD VIEW OF THE COMET.

Astronomers at Smith Observatory See Sky Wanderer.

Geneva, N. Y., May 16.—Excellent observations of Halley's comet were taken this morning by Prof. Wm. R. Brooks, director of Smith observatory, who represented the comet's tail stretching out in a broad band across the heavens to a length of more than forty-five degrees. The nucleus, Prof. Brooks said, was very bright, being easily visible with the naked eye long after all the stars except Venus had disappeared.

Dr. Brooks said that the comet, viewed through the telescope showed the same remarkable changes in form that were noted three days ago. Its shape this morning was that of a pointed crescent with the nucleus on the extreme front and much larger than noted at any previous observation.

WILL JOIN PROTEST AGAINST RATE ADVANCE

Commercial Club to Oppose Higher Freight Figures —Meeting Tonight.

The Commercial club will undoubtedly join hundreds of other business, industrial and commercial organizations throughout the central west in opposing the proposed increase in freight rates on lines east of Chicago. Action will be taken this afternoon at a meeting of the directors and the committee on railroads and transportation, which has been called for this special purpose. It is expected that the Commercial club will send delegates to the mass meeting to be held in Chicago Tuesday to protest against the proposed advance in rates.

Open Meeting Tonight.

An open meeting of the entire club has been called for this evening, to which the general public is invited. The theme for discussion will be the commission form of government for cities, and the speakers will include T. F. Thieme, P. A. Randall, C. H. Worden, O. N. Guildin, W. E. Mossman and others. The meeting will be held in the big assembly room of the club's new home on Harrison street.

ABOUT READY FOR PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY

Great Meeting Will Begin Thursday at Atlantic City, N. J.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 16.—Arrangements for the meeting of the general assembly, the highest legislative body of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, which convenes here Thursday for a ten days' session, are about completed and the advance guard of commissioners is expected to arrive tomorrow. All sessions of the assembly will be held on the steel pier and there will be about 900 delegates. One of the first things the general assembly will have to do will be to elect a moderator. Among the candidates mentioned thus far are Rev. Dr. George Alexander, of New York city; Rev. Dr. Ethelbert D. Warfield, president of Lafayette college; Rev. Dr. Charles Little, of Wabash, Ind.; Rev. Dr. Robert Mackinzie, secretary of the college board, New York city, and Rev. Dr. Zenos, a professor in McCormick seminary, Chicago. The general assembly will be opened at 11 a. m. Thursday, with the annual sermon by Rev. Dr. J. M. Barclay, of Detroit, the retiring moderator. The election of a moderator will take place in the afternoon of the same day.

A pre-assembly conference conducted by Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman and Charles M. Alexander, the evangelists, who recently returned from evangelistic campaigns in foreign lands, will be held tomorrow and Wednesday.

BLACK AND WHITE GOWN.

POSED BY MISS McCOY OF "JOLLY BACHELORS CO"

Black Chantilly insertions and motifs, appliqued on white chiffon, form a striking effect of contrast on this evening frock. Beneath the chiffon bands on skirt and bodice white braided net is introduced.

A touch of black chiffon at the bottom of the skirt and outlining the corsage seems to soften the otherwise rather harsh contrast of the black and white materials. The girdle is made of apple green satin ribbon, matching in tone the long silk gloves embroidered in shades of green and white.

THE SHOP AND RAIL NEWS

MORE WAGES FOR THE TRAINMEN

Conductors and Brakemen on Lake Shore Get Increase.

CASE OF ERIE MEN MATTER OF DOUBT

Are Voting on Question of Giving Power to Call Strike.

New York, May 16.—The trainmen and conductors of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad and the Michigan Central railroad have been granted wage increases identical with the B. & O. award by the arbitrators, P. H. Morrissey and E. E. Clark. The announcement was made today by A. B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, and W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who united in the following statement: "The award of the arbitrators in the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern and Michigan Central cases has been handed down, and it gives the same rates as obtained on the Baltimore and Ohio, thus making the rates on those two properties standard with the lines upon which settlement has formerly been made, the terms of the award being the same as the New York Central without the deferred payment in any case.

"It establishes the New York harbor rate across the province of Ontario on the Michigan Central from Detroit to Buffalo."

In the cases covered by today's decision the full rate takes effect April 1, and the employes will receive back pay for the difference. The awards on the Big Four, Chicago, Indiana and Southern and Lake Erie and Western will be made known later in the week.

The rates of pay under the new agreement, which is to remain in effect for an indefinite period, are as follows:

On passenger trains; conductors, $2.68 per hundred miles with a monthly guarantee of $125; baggage men $1.50 per hundred miles, with a monthly guarantee of $75; brakemen $1.50 per hundred miles, with a monthly guarantee of $70.

On through freight trains: Conductors, $3.63 per hundred miles; brakemen, $2.42.

On local freight trains: Conductors, $3.97½ per hundred miles; brakemen, $2.70.

Roughly speaking, the passenger conductors have been getting about $2.50 per hundred miles and the freight conductors about $3.20.

The new rates of pay for men in the yards are as follows:

Day conductors, 37c an hour; day brakemen, 34c an hour; night conductors, 39c an hour; night brakemen, 36c.

Means Standard of Wages.

"The victory is a decisive one all along the line," said Mr. Garretson, "and, taken with the victory on other roads, is the greatest step forward which organized labor on railroads has ever taken. It means that the standard rates of pay which we have been seeking to establish throughout the eastern territory are virtually effective.

"The E. & O. rate has been established on these lines: New York Central, Boston and Albany, Delaware and Hudson, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, New York, New Haven and Hartford, West Shore, Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, Michigan Central, E. & O., Toledo and Ohio Central, Hocking Valley, Pittsburg and Lake Erie, Kanawha and Michigan, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg, Bessemer and Lake Erie, Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern.

"The men on the Pennsylvania system and the Lehigh Valley road did not join with the conductors and trainmen of the other roads in demanding the uniform rate. The Lehigh Valley settled with its men for a rate somewhat lower and the Pennsylvania men are still discussing the matter with the railway officials. The Erie has not granted the standard rates and the strike vote of the men will be counted tomorrow.

SITUATION ELSEWHERE.

Erie Expects Trouble When Result of Vote Is Counted.

New York, May 16.—Important developments are anticipated within the next few days in the railroad wage dispute affecting both eastern lines and those in the central west. Count of the strike vote, which was ordered recently on the Erie following the road's rejection of the demands of the conductors and trainmen, is set for today and awards of the arbitrators in the wage controversy of one or more lines of the New York Central system west of Buffalo are practically ready, with the possibility that they may be publicly announced at any time. Many of the roads in the eastern territory have already come to terms with their employes on lines more or less closely following those agreed to by employers and employes on the Baltimore and Ohio system, following the general agreement among the conductors and trainmen to make practically uniform demands for wage increases on all the roads east of the Ohio and north of the Chesapeake and Potomac. The situation on the Erie is regarded by railroad men as the most critical that has so far developed. The road has claimed that it cannot afford to pay the rates granted by the Baltimore and Ohio, the New York Central and other lines upon which the award has already been made. The men's representatives have insisted that their services were worth just as much to the Erie as those of their fellow organization men to the other lines. An appeal to arbitration under the Erdman act, as in the case of the Baltimore and Ohio, was regarded as not an unlikely outcome in case the Erie's men vote in favor of giving their organization heads power to call a strike. A. B. Garretson, head of the National Order of Railway Conductors, said that the entire day probably would be consumed in counting the vote for the Erie men, and announcement of the result was not promised before tomorrow and might not be made even then should any delay be encountered in the counting process.

WANT IN ON TOURNAMENT.

Five Ohio Fire Companies Anxious to Participate.

Councilman G. F. Rogge, secretary of the Fort Wayne Electric company's Volunteer Fire company, has received letters of inquiry from five volunteer fire companies in Ohio, asking if they can get in the various contests of the annual meet of the Northern Indiana Volunteer Firemen's association in this city June 30. The Ohio firemen suggest that the rules of the association be changed so as to admit them to membership and failing in this, they want to be permitted to take part in the big parade and the contests at the meeting in Fort Wayne. Secretary Rogge said this morning that the indications pointed to the best tournament every held in the state. "There will be twelve bands here," he said, "and possibly thirteen, and the band feature of the meet will be very interesting." The committee on arrangements is making elaborate preparations for the tournament and is receiving encouragement from the merchants and other citizens.

TRACK ELEVATION BIDS.

Pennsylvania Receives Them and Sends Them East.

Saturday the Pennsylvania company officials here received bids for all the track elevation work except the steel structural work, which will be let separately. The bids include the concrete retaining walls, the elevation of the track ten feet at the highest point with a gradual reduction to the points where elevation begins; the loading of cars, the company to furnish the equipment, and in fact all work except that of manning the engines and handling the work trains. The Wabash will do its own track elevation work and is getting its equipment and working force together for that purpose. Actual work will commence as soon as the bids have been examined and the contracts awarded.

INSTALL BLOCK SYSTEM.

The G. R. & I. Prepare for It North of This City.

The G. R. & I. is now at work preparing for the installation of the block system between Fort Wayne and Sturgis, Mich., the laying of the sidings at Kendallville, mentioned in the Sentinel last week, being the preliminary step. Twelve similar sidetracks will be installed at various points to make the system possible.

The installation of the system is necessary to comply with an order of the state railway commission, making it compulsory to have the system in operation by July 1. In order to complete the work on schedule time large forces of men and teams will be necessary all along the line.

EXCURSION SEASON IS ON.

The excursion season can now be said to be fully on, there being four special trains out of the city yesterday. One ran over the G. R. & I. and carried about 200 people from this city to Richmond to attend the Indiana Staatsverband; two carried passengers over the L. E. & W. to Dayton, and another train carried about 90 people from this city to Cincinnati over the L. E. & W. In addition to this travel there was the usual travel to the lakes, the G. R. & I. taking about 500 to Rome City and the Lake Shore about 150 to the lakes on that line.

DRIVER TIRE FELL ON HIM.

Ed. J. Leeper Painfully Hurt at the Shops.

While rolling a driver wheel tire at the Pennsylvania shops this morning Edwin J. Leeper, an apprentice, sustained painful injuries when he lost control of the big steel band and it fell upon his legs. The tire struck his leg above the knee and scraped it to the foot, bruising the latter severely, but fortunately breaking no bones. The young man was taken to St. Joseph hospital, where the company surgeon is attending him. The tire weighed over half a ton and Mr. Leeper's escape from more serious injury is somewhat remarkable. The young man has been employed at the shop two or three years.

WILL RETURN HERE.

Machinist George Viberg Coming to Fort Wayne to Stay.

Relatives in the city have been advised that George Viberg, for the past three years employed as a gang foreman at Culebra Panama, by the government, will return to Fort Wayne to remain and possibly take employment in one of the big shops. He will arrive here about the first of June. Mr. Viberg is well known in shop circles in Fort Wayne, having been employed at his trade in them several years. He left the city about ten years ago, his last service being at the Western Gas works. He went to the isthmus three years ago and has been there since.

EFFECTIVE NEXT WEDNESDAY.

Management of Pennsy Lines Hotel Change Then.

Next Wednesday R. W. McCoy, who has charge of the Pennsylvania lines hotel during the winter months, will turn the management of that histelry over to W. W. White, of Chicago. As previously stated, Mr. McCoy will have charge of the hotel department of the Maxinkuckee resort during the summer, a business he has controlled for several years. Mr. White has been connected with the Pennsylvania dining car service for several years, with headquarters at Chicago.

TWO SPECIAL TRAINS.

Pennsylvania Will Handle Delegates to General Assembly.

The Pennsylvania will have two special trains through here tomorrow carrying delegates from Chicago and points west of that city to the general assembly of the Presbyterians at Atlantic City. One train of nine cars will run as the second section of the Manhattan limited, passing through Fort Wayne about 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the other will be the second section of the Pennsylvania limited, will have eleven cars, and will pass through the city at 5 o'clock in the evening.

WERE FELLOW CLERKS.

Thomas Lynn, secretary of the Zanesville ball company, who is in the city with his team, and W. L. Wilt, chief clerk of the Pennsylvania motive power department, were associated in clerical work in the Pennsylvania shops at Indianapolis several years ago and are personal friends. They have met several times since the Zanesville team came and enjoyed the renewal of acquaintanceship very much.

THE WOODMEN'S EXCURSION.

The Excursion to Dayton, Ohio, yesterday on account of the meeting there of the Woodmen of the World was not as largely attended as it would have been had the weather been more pleasant the two or three days preceding it. In the number of passengers carried on that occasion the Lake Erie and Western led, taking 165 out of Fort Wayne, while the C. H. & D. only sold eighty-one.

INSPECTED NEW SIGNAL SYSTEM

George W. Hill, signal supervisor, and R. C. Bainbridge, special man in the signal department, have returned from the east, where they inspected the new alternating current signal apparatus and system in operation. They inspected signals on the Cumberland Valley and the Long Island roads. The Pennsylvania company is installing a similar plant here.

HAD HIS FACE SCALDED.

E. H. Hambrock, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, had his face painfully scalded Saturday afternoon when the connection of a steam pipe sprang a leak as he was working near. A stream of steam and water was thrown out, striking him in the face. He is off duty as a result of the accident.

HAD THUMB CUT ON SAW.

George C. Hoopingarner, a carpenter employed at the Wabash shops, had one of his thumbs cut this morning. He was operating a buzz saw, when he got the thumb in contact with the blade and the digit was ripped open. The bone was not injured, however, and the injury will not be permanent.

NEW STORE-ROOM STENOGRAPHER.

John Snyder has resigned as stenographer for Division Storekeeper H. W. Hurst, of the Wabash, and Miss C. Snyder, a recent graduate of the business college, has been employed in that capacity.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Robert Smith took employment in the Bass boiler shop this morning.

S. F. Fulkerson is a new fluemaker at the Pennsylvania shops.

C. A. Zerber, of the Pennsylvania flue shop, went to Cleveland Saturday to spend a week with friends.

The Bass works shipped a tubular boiler Saturday. It is for a gas making plant in Ohio.

Engineer and Mrs. Theodore Titus have gone to St. Louis to visit her brother a week or two. Mr. Titus is on the Pennsylvania retired list.

William M. Gross, Clifford Winegate and Charles Edwards took positions in the Wabash shops this morning.

E. L. Fransfelder has taken employment at the Electric works. He was formerly employed at the Pennsylvania shops.

John M. Zollars, who was operated upon at the hospital for rupture February 23, and J. L. Grouau, who was taken sick two weeks ago, resumed work this morning.

Machinist Herman Regel, of the Bass works, went to Huntington this morning to do some repair work in the plant of the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Beitzell and their son, Frank, will leave the latter part of the week for Coalport, Pa., where they will spend a week or two with friends. Mr. Beitzell is a carpenter in the Pennsylvania shops.

Boiler Foreman B. F. Sarver, of the Pennsylvania, returned from Pittsburg this morning. He went there Saturday to see his mother, who is very sick, with but little prospect of recovery.

Division Storekeeper H. W. Hurst, of the Wabash, is now a bonafide resident of Fort Wayne. Last week he brought Mrs. Hurst and the children here and the family is now keeping house at 2304 South Calhoun street.

The Pennsylvania company has completed the erection of its watch-house at the Line street crossing at Columbia City, in compliance with the order of the board of commissioners and has installed one of its section men, Clarence Binkley, as watchman.

H. W. G. Heine and Fred W. Mennewische, who had been making the spring inspection of stationary boilers and engines on the Western division of the Pennsylvania, completed that work Saturday and returned to their respective places in the shops.

H. Fox, W. M. Repine, Z. N. Gongaware, C. E. Rhine and O. S. Adams, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty. E. Steil, of the paint shop, is off duty on account of the illness of his little daughter. Louis M. McCulloch, who was out a week looking after his farming interests; C. F. Beck, who had a hand injured April 28, and W. C. Tegtmeyer, H. H. Limbach, F. H. Subkosski and Charles A. Szink, who were sick, resumed their duties in the shop this morning.

FORT WAYNE IS REMEMBERED.

Bequests by Laporte Man to Catholic Institutions Here.

The sum of $4,000 was bequeathed to St. Vincent's Orphan asylum in Fort Wayne and $3,000 to the Catholic schools of this city by the will of Richard Huncheon, a wealthy bachelor, who died at Laporte a week ago. In all Mr. Huncheon gave about $100,000 to the Catholic church and its charitable and educational institutions.

Mrs. Otto Wise, 906 Hanover street, sustained a fracture of three ribs Saturday afternoon by falling into an elevator shaft at the Auburn garage, on Columbia street, where her husband is employed. She was removed to St. Joseph's hospital.

An invitation is extended to all citizens to attend a public meeting of the commercial club this evening, 8 p. m., in the club building, on Harrison street. Discussion, "Reform City Government Called Commission Government." Speakers, T. F. Thieme, P. A. Randall, C. B. Fitch, C. H. Worden, E. F. Yarnelle, Samuel M. Foster and other well known citizens.

Crisp News of What's Doing in the Sporting World

Both the Infields Busy in Closing Potter Game

Unusual Number of Assists in the Sunday Game Won by Locals in a Bruising Fight.

Exclusive of the number of times the ball was thrown to bases in efforts to catch pilfering runners or to nip them off the bags the Fort Wayne and Zanesville fielders had seventy-eight chances for errors in the Sabbath encounter and fell down on five of them, which is a fine showing when the condition of the grounds is taken into consideration.

This means that the ball was scooped up and thrown or caught on the fly and runners retired in that many instances and that there were in most cases at least two chances to go wrong on each infield out. Fort Wayne had twenty-two assists and four errors and Zanesville fifteen and one error, making forty-two chances for the inner guard. The battle was won by Fort Wayne 3 to 2, and while Will Robertson did not give as good an account of himself as a pitcher as he did in most of his performances last season he broke in as a hitter of the slugging variety and was the biggest batting factor in winning the encounter.

One Kenworthy, always a stumbling block on the local lot, had been conditioned for the Sunday scrap and the start indicated that Montgomery had shown wisdom in bottling his one best bet for the Sabbath slash as the hurler got through five innings without being scored on and in that time only one hit was made by the ambitious Burkites. Bill Bailey kicked a double slash into the sixth and the big pitching slat chopped a nice single to right that scored his battery pard.

The big blow-off came in the eighth. Big Robbie was the first up and he took a slam that rammed the ball past Jack Gilbert most to the left field fence, and by the time the bunty gardener had corralled the Spalding the pitching department was on third. This pulled the infield in and Curly Blount cut one between Crowder and Campbell for the first counter. Then Sir Iowerth slid into second ahead of Holmes' throw and made third on Donahue's out. Patterson lined one at Crowder who came in fast and got one hand on the ball but could not field it and it counted for the winning run.

Zanesville held on hard and smeared a lot of gloom over the ninth inning by a rally that would probably have tied up the score but for a ground rule that gave only two bases for a hit into the crowd on the right field bank. With the two first men up in the discard, Jimmy Burke made a perfect throw to first on Connolly's grounder and it looked like time to cush, but Gainer dropped the ball, then Jack Gilbert smacked the ball into the crowd. Ordinarily Connolly would have scored on the slash, but was held at third on the ground rule and when Frankie Donahue stopped Campbell at first the game was won.

If the encounter had been framed it could not have been more pleasingly rounded out. There were 4,291 who paid to get in and there were seventy-five passes and a number in the lot by virtue of employment and many there simply on their nerve, and all told there were at least 4,400 people inside the fences. Fort Wayne won by a grand rally and a great defence and the crowd went home tickled to death. The score:

Some Notes of the Fray.

The bleachers were filled half an hour before playing was called.

Blount was there in the pinch yesterday and his hitting and base running helped mightily.

Young was the only local batsman to get a bingle in the first five rounds. He hit and stole second in the opener, but died there.

Bill Bailey looks better right along. He is hitting the ball in pinches and will throw better as soon as it gets warmer.

Justice came in on a ground ball that Herold hit in the eighth and got a hand for a rattling stop and throw.

Boss Burke failed to get the ball out of the diamond, but he supplied a lot of ginger that went into the victory.

That Gainer will bear watching at the plate. He is fast and has a way of laying them down third base line that will help out before the season is over.

Patterson could not connect safely until the eighth when his little bounder sent over the winner.

Frankie Donahue didn't get a hit but he handled some difficult chances and got away with them. Bill Hillinger is hitting like a fiend and he pickled three out of four times up yesterday.

Swartling made a stop in the sixth that was as fast as anything seen here in many moons, but he went wrong on the throw.

Pitched in Good Form Saturday

Charlie Alberts won his third successive game Saturday when he beat Zanesville, eleven to three. Up to the sixth inning the Potters had made three hits and one run off him and with a victory iced he let up and saved his arm for another day. He was hit pretty hard in the three closing rounds but was working under orders to take things easy as there was not a chance in a hundred to lose. The little fellow is going fine this season and is satisfied with his berth. Fort Wayne hammered up Veasey and Hampe and won the game without much trouble. Young hit a home run with one man on in the first and the ball did not get out of the lot. Burke and his men lined out sixteen hits during the game and Zanesville did not have a peek at victory after the first inning:

Referee Question Up in a Conference at Frisco

San Francisco, May 16.—When the representatives of the rival fight camps assembled here this afternoon for their second conference on the question of a referee for the Jeffries-Johnson battle at Emeryville July 4, they will face what is regarded as an extremely delicate situation. The long drawn-out controversy over the third man in the ring seems to be as far from a settlement on the eve of meeting as it has been since the principals and their managers first began consideration of the matter. A deadlock in the negotiations is feared and because of the strong feeling in evidence on both sides Promoters Rickard and Gleason are much worried over the outcome of today's proceedings.

The morning papers give much prominence to a rumor current here last night that Jeffries has threatened to call off the fight unless Johnson agrees to withdraw his candidates for referee, Jack Welch and Eddie Graney. The report has it that Jeffries told a friend he resents the attitude assumed by the negro champion and "refuses to be dictated to."

Those scheduled to meet this afternoon for a final threshing out of the vexed question are Sam Berger, Jeffries' manager; Jack Johnson and his manager, George Little, and Gleason and Rickard. The conference will be held at Johnson's training quarters at the fighter's request in order that he may lose as little time as possible from his training.

Johnson's admirers are elated over the remarkable form shown by the fighter in his boxing bouts yesterday.

JEFFRIES IS VERY BASHFUL.

Does Not Like Sunday Crowd at Quarters.

Ben Lomond, Cal., May 16.—The big crowd that journeyed here from San Francisco yesterday to see Jim Jeffries in his announced public Sabbath work-out learned that the former champion is an exceedingly timid man.

All his years in the ring have not worn off the shyness Jeffries early evinced when called on to perform in public. Before he appeared in the gymnasium, one of his camp companions remarked:

"Jeffries would give a hundred dollar bill if he could get out of facing the crowd this afternoon," and the truth of the assertion was attested by the fighter's subsequent behavior.

When he began skipping the rope he kept his face to the wall and his back to the spectators and when he started his shadow boxing he stood in a corner as far removed from curious eyes as possible. But his bashfulness wore off when he warmed up in his boxing with Bob Armstrong.

Fully a third of the large throng who witnessed Jeffries' exhibition yesterday were women and children, members of automobile parties who entered the camp with male escorts.

NOTRE DAME HURLER HOLDS CUBS TO ONE HIT

Chicago Had the Game Won When Burke Went in —The Scores.

After Mattern had been touched up in the first four innings of the game between the Boston Nationals and Cubs at Chicago yesterday, Burke, a Notre Dame recruit, was sent to the slab and for the remainder of the game he served a mess of slants and bends that Chicago could not solve and only one hit was registered against him. Chicago won the game, 4 to 0.

Cincinnati came from behind and won from Brooklyn, 2 to 1, in the ninth inning. Nap Rucker pitched in great form until the ninth when he hit a batsman and allowed four hits that won the game for the Reds.

In an effort to save a game from St. Louis Manager McGraw sent Bugs Raymond into the fray, but the Cardinals had no respect for their old team mate and hammered him hard, winning 8 to 3. The scores:

SHAMROCKS LOSE OUT.

Loose Fielding Defeats the Team in Dayton Game.

Manager Mart Cleary and his Shamrocks drifted in at 3 o'clock this morning with a defeat hanging over them as the Lily Brews licked them at Dayton yesterday, 8 to 4. Seitz was hit ten times, but the runs that were scored came as the result of fielding foozles. Robbins pitched part of the game and the club had a hard proposition to go against in Ihrig, who is to join Zanesville next month.

ARRANGING CENTLIVRE DAY.

Fans Framing Up Reception for the Local Lad.

If plans that are making are carried out next Sunday will be Carl Centlivre day at League park. The Fort Wayne lad will play here with Evansville and as he has been going along in great shape since he joined the club his friends here want to show proper appreciation. Plans are making for the presentation of a floral offering and a big turnout to see the college boy perform.

PHILLIPS SAYS HIS TEAM IS FINEST OF ALL

Says There Would be Nothing to It if He Was Going Right.

Last season Bill Phillips was the modest retiring manager of the league and had little to say even when his team was winning the pennant, but this year he's out with the statement that he has the best team in the league and that he is better than he was last spring.

"There'd be nothing to it if we were going right," he said from the depths of the covers on his bed at the Wayne hotel this morning. "He and his players got in late and he was taking a snooze before the game. Last night he and his players got mixed up with an excursion and did not get much sleep and he was making up lost time.

If the weather is right the Wheeling games will be played today, tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday and Friday will be an open day. If not they will be played as the weather man dictates. Today is really an open date for Fort Wayne and Wheeling, but it was decided Saturday night to start the series this afternoon.

Bill Phillips always puts up a good ball team and Wheeling is Fort Wayne's hoodoo and this is the combination the locals are up against. The club has a number of new men, including Hugh Tate, obtained from Louisville; Dollie Gray, from the O.-P. league; Humphries, a pitcher whose brother was with Grand Rapids last season; Donk, another pitcher; Sentz, an outfielder from the Chattanooga team; Frailey, a new catcher; Clayton, a pitcher and Graff, an infielder.

Of the old men there are Barney Wolf, Rivington Bisland, Benny Jewell, Bob Tarleton, and Milo Stratton. The club has been playing good ball on the road and is under a wise old manager who will get the best out of the team there is in it.

TOTS SNATCH THIRD GAME FROM THE RAIDERS

Also Smear on a Third Coat of Whitewash—The Scores.

With Derby and Rudy Summers hurling the Tots took the third straight from Grand Rapids yesterday and emphasized the victory by spreading on the third straight coat of whitewash, having slipped over the same kind of a defeat on Saturday. The Raiders hit three times during the encounter and Terre Haute got to Larsen for five hits.

Grant switched his line-up yesterday and put Carl Centlivre as the leadoff man but Elmer Moffitt was in such good shape that at no time was he in trouble and the game went to South Bend by a score of 4 to 0. Billy Cristall was hit only five times but his support was poor. Grant had three errors.

Compton, pitching for Wheeling allowed Dayton only three hits, but there were two bobbles behind him and the hits fell together in the first inning and counted for the only run of the game. The scores:

LOU FIENE PITCHED GREAT BALL IN SHUT-OUT

Indianapolis Did Not Have a Chance to Win Against Him.

At Minneapolis Lou Fiene had the Browns on his staff, pitching rings around them and holding them to three singles, of which Hayden's in the ninth was the third. It was also the third sensational pitching performance of the last eight days for Fiene. Last Sunday he held Columbus to five hits and beat them 5 to 1, and on Wednesday went in again against the senators and shut them out with one scratch hit.

St. Paul bunched hits with Richter's wildness and made it two out of three of the series with Louisville by a score of 5 to 3. Clark's hitting and fielding and Dunleavy's fielding were features.

Milwaukee bunched hits on Kaler in the second and third for enough runs to win a 7-to-2 game. The victory put the Browns in fifth place.

Kansas City and Toledo played on a sloppy field, the former proving the best muddlers and winning, 4 to 1. The scores:

CUTS DOWN ATTENDANCE.

Union Labor Boycott of Cleveland Team Has Effect.

Washington, May 16.—A boycott is cutting down to a slight extent the attendance upon the Washington-Cleveland series of ball games now being played here. About 200 men, it is said, members of the local labor unions, were turned back near the gate Saturday by pickets who had been established there to intercept any union men who might be on their way to see the game. The grievance consists of the allegation that the owners of the Cleveland team employed non-union labor in the construction of their new park in that city.

TIDBITS OF SPORTING NEWS

Harry Hammond pitched against Sioux City for Denver yesterday and lost 8 to 5. Denver's big lead has been cut down on the road and the club is one game ahead of St. Joseph.

Ted Kaylor has not been in the line-up of the Madison team for several days.

Pearl Stanley was sent in yesterday to save a game for Monmouth, but Burlington had a big lead and was never stopped.

Cliff Curtis was sent against the Cubs at Chicago Saturday and shut them out for Boston.

Dr. Carson is offering a reward for Umpire George Ream. He left Terre Haute for Fort Wayne last Tuesday night and has not been heard from since. The doctor is anxious about him as he wants him to umpire some more games in the Central league.

Three victories on the road have put Terre Haute in second place in the standing of the clubs and the fight against the club is petering out over at Totville.

If Coppy Groeschow's pitching staff is up to snuff it is difficult to see where Terre Haute is so many miles behind the procession if not a top notch club. But it is an old saying that a team always looks good when it wins.

Outfielder "Goodie" Henderson has been released by Haverhill. He had his hand hurt in the fourth game of the season and did not show well at bat afterward. Bert Noblett has joined the club after his release by Sioux City.

Mart Cleary is wondering where Big Dick Diederich is. He has two letters for him which were forwarded from Bay City, indicating that he is no longer playing there. One is a rush letter from Tacoma of the Northwestern league.

Win Kellum, the veteran pitcher signed by Bill Phillips, has been let go as he did not show Central league form.

Harry Martin's thumb is hurt and O'Brien is catching for the club.

The youth at Wheeling still has his grouch working against Fort Wayne and worked this out for the Sunday News: "The Fort Wayne team seems to have cornered the market in horse shoes and have been copping games on the road and at home, by more luck than anything else. The fans here will remember the Billikens' initial appearance when on last Sunday at Richland park they won by the score of 4 to 3 when Wheeling had three men on bases and only one out. Just at this important point an accident occurred and it was necessary to put Robertson, one of the Billiken players into the umpire's place. The first decision was a questionable one and those who saw the play made insist that the locals should have the credit for at least one run which would have tied the game. However, the game is over and the least said the better. Over at their home Friday, Zanesville outplayed the Billikens, outbatting them, and yet by a lucky incident for them in the second inning, they had three scores marked to their credit. This cannot last forever and unless the team puts up the real class of baseball, they are due for a slide down the greasy incline."

SCENE OF RECENT MURDER IN NEW YORK AND CHILDREN WHO ARE AIDING POLICE TO UNRAVEL THE CRIME.

HOME OF DR. MOTT D. CANNON, No 131 WEST 122ND STREET

New York, May 16.—Hope of the police in solving the mystery surrounding the brutal murder of Margaret Meehan, a housekeeper, sixty-nine years old, and William Beman, a Hindoo butler, twenty-three years old, in the home of Dr. Mott D. Cannon, a well known Harlem physician, living at No. 131 West 122d street, is centered in Miss Helen Hammond, a thirteen-year-old schoolgirl, who told the detectives that when she called at the house a few hours before the discovery of the tragedy to leave some flowers for her school teacher, who lived there, a man "with terribly fierce eyes" glared at her from behind the door and said:

"Get out of here and mind your own business!"

While Miss Hammond, who is the daughter of Dr. Frederick P. Hammond, of No. 143 West 122d street, says that she has no clear idea of the other features of the man outside of his eyes, she is convinced that if she ever sees him again that she will be able to make a positive identification. The girl, who is a fine singer and consequently has a keen ear for voices, adds that she will be able to recognize the stranger's voice again, if she hears it. She said the tone was rough and the speech evidently that of an American.

Evelyn Cronson and Curry Watson, two young children of the neighborhood, had also given the police some valuable information, which, it is believed, will lead to the arrest of the murderer, now thought to be a German

YOUR BACKACHE WILL YIELD

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bloomdale, Ohio.—"I suffered from terrible headaches, pains in my back and right side, and was tired all the time and nervous. I could not sleep, and every month I could hardly stand the pain. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health again and made me feel like a new woman. I hope this letter will induce other women to avail themselves of this valuable medicine."—Mrs. E. M. FREDERICK, Bloomdale, Ohio.

Backache is a symptom of female weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so safely and surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Cure the cause of those distressing aches and pains and you will become well and strong.

The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has restored health to thousands of women.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and she always does.

NOW UP TO PEOPLE TO MAKE IT A SUCCESS

Playgrounds Will Get 87½ Cents of Each Dollar Taken in Now.

With the advance sale of seats by school children sufficient to cover royalty of $300, special scenery and costumes, the salaries of professional people employed for the principal roles and all other expenses of the production, the first performance of "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" for the benefit of public playgrounds in Fort Wayne will be given at the Majestic this evening.

"It is now up to the people of Fort Wayne to make the movement a big financial success," said Manager Rice today, "for with the expenses of the big production already guaranteed, every ticket purchaser from this time forward can be assured that 87½ cents of each dollar will go into the playgrounds fund. Six hundred choice reserved seats are yet available for each of the seven performances to be given, and with these sold at 50 cents each we can turn over a handsome sum to the playgrounds. I have confidence enough in the people of Fort Wayne to believe they will respond handsomely to this excellent cause."

Under the original agreement with the Playgrounds association, 75 per cent of receipts after expenses were paid was to go to the playgrounds. The remaining 25 per cent was to be divided between the Majestic management and Mr. Preston, who supplied the theater, employed the principals, and assumed the financial risk of the production. Now Mr. Rice has come forward with the declaration that he doesn't want to make a dollar out of the week, and that his 12½ per cent will be added to the playgrounds' 75 per cent. The performance will be an excellent one, but it now devolves upon the people of Fort Wayne to pack the Majestic at each performance and make it the biggest financial success the city has ever known. The children have done their part handsomely; now let everybody else come forward and have a part in the triumph.

John D. Rockefeller would go broke if he should spend his entire income trying to prepare a better medicine than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is simply impossible and so says every one that has used it. Sold by all dealers.

THE FIFTY DOLLARS A MINUTE COLLECTOR FOR THE ACTOR'S FAIR.

New York, May 16.—After journeying all the way from Europe expressly to visit the Actors' Fund fair, Miss Pauline Chase arrived at the Seventy-first Regiment armory and established a feminine record for making money. In less than fifteen minutes as an auctioneer she collected more than $750, which is more than $50 a minute. Miss Chase was due to arrive at the fair in the afternoon, but the customs officials delayed her by holding up her collection of autographed photographs, after she had landed from the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. Among the photographs which she sold was one of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, which he autographed at her request, and several of J. M. Barrie, Mme. Melba, Mr. Arthur W. Pinero and other lights of the theatrical and political firmaments. The picture of Mr. Roosevelt brought a bid of $150 with the understanding that if sold for that it would go to the Actors' Home on Staten Island.

IT TAKES TIME

To learn a store like this thoroughly. Stocks are constantly changing. New ideas appear every day. Nearly every woman knows the general superiority of our suits and coats, yet has not discovered that the same excellence prevails all through the store, so we ask all our patrons to take time to get better acquainted with all our departments.

PARASOLS

A summer necessity both for comfort and style. A handsome parasol will not only protect you from the sun's rays, but will add tone to your appearance. Fashion says parasols this season, so we have provided a liberal stock of the newest things. We think our showing is exceedingly attractive; so will you when you see them. Prices range from $1.00 to $7.50.

Wash Dress Fabrics

Better be prepared for hot weather with an abundance of cool gowns. There's an endless array here of summer gown fabrics at most inviting prices.

Serviceable ginghams in stripes, checks and plaids at 10c, 12½c, 15c and up to the finest imported Scotch ginghams at 25c and 35c a yard.

Sheer printed lawns in dots, stripes and small figure designs in dainty colorings, 10c a yard.

Printed batistes, dimities and mercerized foulards, white and colored grounds, with pretty figures and stripes, 15c a yard.

Fine dotted Swisses, foulards and real Irish dimities, many choice styles, 25c a yard.

A special offering in a fine silk and cotton tussah jacquard, a beautiful fabric with brocaded designs; never before less than 50c, now 39c a yard.

Fine printed madras, excellent for wearing and washing, 15c quality, 12½c a yard.

Linen finish suitings are exceedingly stylish this season. We have them in coarse and fine weaves at 12½c, 15c, 18c and 25c.

Summer Millinery

We are showing some snappy styles in hats for the summer season—hats that show the deft touch of artistic designers—models that are distinctive with an individuality about them that is sure to please. Reasonable prices are combined with correct styles.

We Are Closing Out

All spring hats at greatly reduced prices. All pattern hats and models from our own workrom must move out this month. You'll find it worth your while to see them.

The Linen Department

Invites your attention to some splendid towel values. The whole stock is filled with values equally as good. Let these offerings tempt you to look:

Cotton huck towels, size 19 by 38 inches, 10c each.

Cotton huck towels, size 18 by 34 inches, extra heavy, 12½c each.

"The Pen With The Crescent-Filler"

There are many so called self-filling fountain pens, but there is only one with the right principle—

CONKLIN'S Self-Filling Fountain Pen

—"The Pen with the Crescent Filler." To fill, simply dip pen in any ink and press the Crescent-Filler. Same movement cleans it. Nothing to get out of order—nothing to take apart—nothing complicated. Writing qualities unequaled. Feeds the ink to the paper as steadily as a watch ticks. No balks, skips or blots.

LIFE OF THE ROYAL BABE OF THE NETHERLANDS IS IN PERIL.

Paris, May 14.—Telegrams from The Hague indicate that the little Princess Juliana is very seriously ill. This has been reported before, but the true condition has been concealed in order to spare the Hollanders anxiety. It is now indicated that it is no longer possible to minimize the possibilities of the situation and that her death may occur. The bulletins of her illness are being watched with intense anxiety. Until now she has been a remarkably healthy child.

FERDY, THE FLOORWALKER.

How Madeleine, the Customer, Returned to Talk Shop.

IT was autumn, and the busy days of effort had been resumed. Ferdinand, with the fresh glow of health on his face, stood by the door looking out upon the crowded thoroughfare, his eyes resting upon the everchanging kaleidoscope of life, but not seeing this. His mind was far away from that restless thoroughfare, and it was only with a listless interest that he answered the many questions that were coming to him from all sides. It was with some degree of discomfort that he realized that he had sent at least three ladies to the chiffon counter on the third floor when they had asked the way to the culinary supply department in the basement, and he knew that this could not continue, and yet the thought of that last sweet evening on the broad moonlit waters of the Mankamunkywunk would not down. That moon, covering with a golden glow the fair face of Madeleine and lighting its way straight into his swelling heart, was never to be forgotten—no, not even here in this mad whirl of commerce. So happy had he been at her whispered "Yes" when he had asked her to be his that he had forgotten to ask her address, and when next morning he had departed for the vortex of business again she had not appeared on the station platform, and he had been forced to return to town in utter ignorance of where he might find her. Would he ever see her again? he had repeatedly asked himself, and now—could it be true?—here she was in all her majestic beauty entering that swinging door and coming directly to his side.

"Madeleine!" he cried eagerly.

The girl stopped and gazed searchingly into his face, but she spoke no word.

"Madeleine," he murmured, "I have found you again. Will you not speak to me?"

Her face went white, and it was evident that she was suffering.

"Madeleine," he continued, "since that night on the lake I have seen nothing but you, thought of nothing but you. Waking or sleeping it has been always the same—your face has been enshrined in my heart as imperishably as the tiny fly in the indestructible amber. Every strain of music that has fallen upon my ears has whispered your dear name to me. The first word I have spoken on waking has been Madeleine. The last word upon my lips at night has been Madeleine."

Still, as if stricken dumb, the girl made no reply.

"Am I never to be thrilled again with the magic numbers of your voice?" he cried. "Is my heart never more to echo and re-echo with the splendid modulations of that exquisite harmony which breathes forth its loveliness from your slightest word? Madeleine, speak to me or I shall go mad."

Her lips moved, and at first he could not hear, but finally her words reached him.

"Will you please direct me to the stove lid department?" she said.

He staggered backward into the hamper of hole proof hosiery marked down from $1.00 to $1.67 and stood gaping awkwardly at her, and Madeleine, without another word, turned and was lost in the surging mass of women come to get the Monday set of the works of Browning with each fifteen cent cake of celluloid soap.—Harper's Weekly.

Safe.

Parke—Come on, old man. I am going on a week's pleasure excursion. Don't care what I do.

Lane—But aren't you afraid that your wife will get after you?

"She can't. The servants have all left, and there is no one in the house to button her up."—Life.

The Reaction.

Ashley—A painter who was working in my house yesterday fell from the top of a twelve foot ladder, landed on his heels and bumped his head on the ceiling.

Weigle—How was that possible?

Ashley—He was wearing rubber heels.—Chicago News.

The Outlook.

"You were very cold last evening," phoned the young man to the girl he had called on. Then he added anxiously, "What is the outlook for tonight?"

"Fair and warmer tonight," came the answer promptly.—Judge.

Cheap.

Jinks—I saw something cheap at a bargain counter today.

Blinks—What was it?

Jinks—A man waiting for his wife.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Re-inforced.

"What is an ossified man, pa?"

"I'm not certain, but I think that is what they call one who has turned to concrete."—New York Press.

As Usual.

"Mrs. Parker is back in town."

"Has she any servants yet?"

"No; she's screaming for help."—Harper's Bazar.

Going Up.

The gentle elevator man,
Who scorns the dull earth clinging plan,
Loves to exclaim whene'er he can,
"Going up!"

He saw the sunshine in the sky.
On the thermometer his eye
Paused, and he gave a joyous cry—
"Going up!"

And when he heard the price of meat
And various other things to eat
He said it still in grief complete,
"Going up!"
—Washington Star.

The Facetious Judge.

"My wife," said the injured husband, "treats me with contempt. She turns her back to me a good deal of the time."

"Keeps you buttoning her waists, I suppose," chuckled the judge as he dismissed the case.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Preferable.

Mr. Askum (after the performance)—I shouldn't think you'd care to take part in amateur theatricals.

Miss Smart (one of the cast)—I don't, but if I didn't I'd probably have to sit in the audience.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Will Hold Him For Awhile.

Mr. Hubby—My wife thinks there is no one like me on the face of the earth.

Miss Keen—She hasn't traveled much, I guess. There are some homely men in Pittsburg, where I live.—Boston Transcript.

Coming Into Her Own.

The new Washington postcards have George's picture on one-half and his wife's picture on the replying card, thus recognizing woman's right to the last word.—Des Moines Register and Leader.

Delicious Rage.

"Don't like to have a girl mad at me. Do you?"

"No. Yet I just dote on having one up in arms against me."—Browning's Magazine.

Observing.

"Is he an observing man?"

"Observing? I should say he is. He can spot a cigar in your vest pocket a block away."—Detroit Free Press.

GENTLE (BUT INSALUBRIOUS) SPRING.

[A doctor's ditty.]

Hail, gentle spring! Hail, balmy winds!
(Unwholesome breezes!)
Hail, springtime's joyous signs of life!
(And fell diseases!)

We breathe once more thine odors fresh
(And miasmatic);
We tread thy spongy meads and vales
(With curse emphatic).

Our pulses beat with vernal joy
(Or vernal fever),
Thou winsome, witching, smiling spring!
(Thou arch deceiver!)

'Tis now the time for love and song
(And stomach bitters),
A time to banish care and grief
(And buckwheat fritters).

A time to doff our winter gloom
(But not our flannels),
To frisk and leap with gladsome cry
(Like foolish spaniels).

The springtime brings new joy to all
(Mad merry makers!)—
To princes, peasants, priests and clerks
(And undertakers).
—Life.

At the Pop Concert.

The orchestra was playing the "Moonlight Sonata."

"Sweetheart," he cried passionately, "I have loved you ever since you were a child! I have longed for the sweet companionship of such a woman as you ever since"—

"Shut up, will you?" came a roar from the seats at the rear. "We want to hear the music."

"Shut up yourself!" retorted the young man. "They advertise this as a pop concert, and I'm going to pop or bust."

Then, turning to the fair maiden at his side, he began again.—Harper's Weekly.

Getting His Sea Tongue.

Skipper (to passenger making first voyage)—How was the game last night?

"Bad for me. Every time I held a larboard bower somebody took it with the starboard."

A Motto Disproved.

"What broke up your theatrical company?"

"The playwright introduced a line that was sure of a big round of applause. The leading man, the leading woman, the comedian and, in fact, everybody insisted on having the opportunity to speak it. The result was a general quarrel."

"And what was the line?"

"'There's glory enough to go round.'"—Washington Star.

Noble Revenge.

"Margie, if grandpa was cross to you you must be kind to him."

"What for, mamma?"

"Don't you know, child? It will be heaping coals of fire on his head."

"Will it, mamma? Then I'll be just as kind as I can be to the old crosspatch. You know how bald he is!"—Chicago Tribune.

A touch of rheumatism, or a twinge of neuralagia, whatever the trouble is, Chamberlain's Liniment drives away the pain at once and cures the complaint quickly. First application gives relief. Sold by all dealers.

S.S.S. THE BEST SPRING TONIC

Most persons, even those who are ordinarily strong and healthy, need a tonic and blood purifier in the Spring. Some have no particular ailment, but are weak, debilitated and run-down. Winter life with its decreased amount of outdoor exercise, and the fact that cold weather has kept the pores of the skin closed, prevented the proper amount of waste and refuse matter from being expelled from the system. These impurities entering the circulation have thinned and weakened the blood, and the body therefore does not receive a sufficient amount of blood nourishment. The general bodily weakness, tired feeling, fickle appetite, poor digestion, etc., show how anaemic the blood has become. Frequently skin diseases, pimples, eruptions, etc., break out and this is evidence of the impurity of the circulation. S. S. S. is the best Spring tonic, because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It is the only medicine on which you can rely to supply the system with the needed tonic effects and at the same time purify and enrich your blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the strain of the long, hot Summer. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks; it is Nature's tonic, pure and healthful. It regulates digestion, tones up the stomach, improves the appetite and promotes strong, vigorous health. This will be your best Spring season if you use S. S. S. for your tonic.

The Ravenna Furnace

contains all the latest and most excellent features in warm-air furnace construction and several more.

The cells of the FIREPOT are constructed large at the bottom, and taper toward the top, making it impossible for any particle that may enter the opening to stick or clog the cells.

The RADIATOR is very large and has almost an unlimited radiating surface. The corrugated design furnishes it strength and a guarantee for endurance. It is absolutely self-cleaning, there being no place for the accumulation of dust or soot. It is gas and smoke proof, and it is impossible for a single dust particle to find its way into the house through the furnace.

OUR SHORT STORY PAGE

The IRISH in HIM

By Inez Hayes Gillmore

Copyright 1909, by Benj. B. Hampton

PAT the older had run pat the younger to earth. The two men sat looking at each other, O'Quin, Senior, sneering, malicious, with a hostile, thrust-out jaw; O'Quin, Junior; with the air, customary with him in his father's presence, of surly, shuffling uneasiness.

Old Pat O'Quin belonged somewhere in the environments of the prize ring. In the beginning of his career he had the makings in him of a good fighter. But through constitutional inaptitude to keep long at anything, he had sunk from the position of promising pug to trainer and sparring partner, had become, as middle age deprived him of his speed, a cheap grafter on the fringes of the sporting world.

He was big, broad-shouldered, huge-handed. A nose twice broken had twisted past every accepted line of beauty.

Though he, too, lacked in personal pulchritude, young Pat bore not the slightest resemblance to his father. He had emerged within the week from an enforced withdrawal from society; the prison pallor on his cheek was just beginning to give way before a healthier tone.

As much as his son, old Pat belonged to the underworld, but his vices were of a more heroic order. While he would do more terrific things on impulse than young Pat, he never did a mean thing if he had time to think. Young Pat was treacherous, cold-blooded, stingy, the contempt of men and the terror of children. Old Pat was temperamental, open-handed, the cajoler of women and the playmate of every girl baby in the neighborhood. By hook or crook he managed to have mass said for his wife and daughter once a year. And, as regularly, he made a pilgrimage to Holy Cross Cemetery to put flowers on their graves.

The relations of young Pat to old Pat were that of the hunted to the hunter, the oppressed to the oppressor. Old Pat entertained and expressed the liveliest contempt for his son. He always referred to him as "the shrimp" or "the shadow-weight." Young Pat liked to pursue his obscure operations, single-handed, in secret, and to live in solitary luxury off the proceeds. Whenever he could get to his son, old Pat demanded to be taken into partnership in these mysterious nocturnal deals. Every time the younger man was "sent up" for one of the short terms that come the way of such small offenders, he made a resolution to cut for New York or Chicago on his release. But always with freedom—he lacked the kidney of the real adventurer—the pull of a weakening nostalgia dragged him back to East Boston. There he would live a furtive existence from gutter to dive, dodging his father at every move. But in the end, the old man always found him, always forced him to a confession of plans and a division of spoils.

And now Pat the older had run Pat the younger to earth. It was in the little room back of Dennis Corrigan's saloon.

"Ah, Pat me b'y, where arr ye go'un?" Old Pat asked. "The sight of ye's gran' for sore eyes. Don't throuble to shut the dure," the old man insisted, suavely. A deft foot waylaid young Pat in his swift rush toward a side entrance. "I'll not detain ye more than a minut. The trut' of the matther is your old father needs faynanshul hilp at wance."

"Aw, can it!" young Pat returned in the classic accent of the East Boston water front. "If you t'ink I've got anny money— I'm dead up against it."

"Now will ye hear the b'y! The indaycent ingratichude av ye! But ut's no more than I ixpicted. Y'r mother mud turrrn in her grave. If iver I wished ye a gurrl—ye young pup—it's now."

Young Pat gave up the struggle. He began to go through his pockets. From one he brought a roll of small bills, from another a handful of change.

The older man pulled the money across the table with one huge hairy paw. With the other he distributed it about in different pockets. The consciousness of wealth worked an immediate change in his bearing. He grew perceptibly taller. With an air of elegant leisure he touched the bell. He ordered drinks.

"The pittance ye've givun me will keep your poor old fathher for not more than a few days. What I nade is a steady job that'ull be more remooneraytive, so to speak. Ye must find it f'r me, y'r me last rasort, Pat, me b'y."

Old Pat's accent had grown more and more pathetic. He raised his glass and drank. He ordered another glass and drank. Noting that his son failed to join in these rites of good fellowship, he reached across the table for young Pat's whisky and again drank. His eyes grew watery but his manner became more stately.

"Now, Pat, me b'y, tell your old fathher all about ut," he demanded, finally, in tones of paternal encouragement. "'Tis y'r fathher knows there's sometʼing do'un. Ah, me b'y, me b'y, may ye niver know the insidjusness of a son's ingratichude. If y'r frin's go back on ye, 'tis wan tʼing, but y'r son, y'r very flesh and blood, the sthrain of ut's turr'ble. An' see what ye've come to, Pat, me b'y. Why did yet not folley some manly calling like y'r fathher? In the old counthry the O'Quins were the flower of the nobility. Farr be ut fr wan who's fallun on evil days to boast, but the blood of kings flows in y'r veins. 'Tis noble ye arr. 'Tis noble y'r fathher is."

"Aw, roll your hoop, father," said young Pat. "I'll give yer me wad if I must, but I can't waste no time here listening to such a foolish noise as dat. Noble, sure! You're as noble as Robbit Emmit one minute and yoo'd swat a sick baby the next."

Old Pat, with a sudden upward heave of his body, reached across the table. He cuffed his son much as an exasperated mother-bear might cuff a mischievous cub-son. Young Pat shot out of his chair, brought up against the wall and made a neat pile of himself in a corner. The violence seemed to assuage the irritation of old Pat's spirit. He gazed at his son with an expression that approximated good nature. "Now, Pat, me b'y, tell us all about it." Young Pat picked himself up and slunk into a chair. When he spoke again it was evident that he had decided to lay his cards on the table.

There was, as old Pat had guessed, "something doing," something more important than Young Pat had ever undertaken before. These were the facts:

The house stood in a lonely suburb. A woman lived there with a child and a maid. She had a lot of money on the place, also silver. "It's me own business how I know," said young Pat. They would have to be getting at it; the husband would come back in a week. The house was well protected, young Pat did not know how he could break in. He had scraped acquaintance with the maid, had thought for a while he was going to have his way with her. "But nuttin' doing there—the girl's stuck on the kid." There was nothing to it but that a pal must conceal himself somewhere in the house to let young Pat in. Was his father willing to do that?

For a moment the old man, partly sobered by the proposition, demurred. But young Pat, as if the idea of his father's collaboration gained with consideration, urged it on him, rang for more drinks and urged again. He drew a plan of the house. A closet in the back hall was the natural hiding place—it was big, ventilated, seldom used and filled with clothes hanging on hooks, convenient to hide behind. They would go out there late in the afternoon. He would introduce his father to Margaret, the maid. Old Pat would take his leave after a bit. But in reality he would go no further than the arbor. Young Pat in the meantime would go with Margaret into the cellar, where he regularly chopped wood for her. While he kept her there, talking, old Pat was to slip back though the kitchen to the back hall and hide himself in the closet.

After dark young Pat would cut the telephone wires; there would be nothing to fear in case the two women were alarmed. There were sheds over an excavation on the vacant lots next door. Young Pat would wait there until his father opened the door and gave the signal. It looked feasible. In the end the old man agreed.

The crackle of an open fire, the solemn tick of a tall clock, the occasional chirp of two little gray birds, the spasmodic rustle of a small black kitten personally conducting himself in a tour through the wastebasket—the big room was full of sound, and yet it had a tense air of quiet. Points of cheer dotted its bleak squareness everywhere. And yet a perceptible cloud of melancholy hung over the room. The quiet seemed to concentrate in the still figure of a child lying on a couch. The melancholy seemed to emanate from the woman who stood at the window looking anxiously out.

Outside the long, cold twilight was dying. A sunset had cut its way under the horizon line. But it did not deceive Alicia Prendergast. She had been studying the weather all day. She knew that she might expect a bad night, with rain and perhaps with fierce winds that shook and pommeled the protesting old house. It was only for its effect on the child that she comprehended bad weather. She turned to Molly, whom she had studied with a fierce intentness all day. Her slim body barely lifted the covers from their own level. She looked up at her mother under a line of heavy eyelashes which cut the gray lines of her big eyes exactly in half, then falling wearily, made a blank of her pale face. Now she was perfectly quiet.

Dr. Myrick insisted that there was nothing serious the matter with Molly—she would be better rather than worse. But, mainly for Alicia's comfort, he had left a bottle of medicine to be used in case the child's illness took a bad turn. Alicia had a feeling that Molly was going to be worse. It was only an intuition, but Alicia believed that it was wise for her to trust her intuitions about Molly. She had a fancy that there was a mystic cord connecting her heart with her daughters. She had often said that if Molly were suddenly taken ill in one room, she would feel it in her own body in the next.

And so Alicia's intuition kept recurring. It had kept her awake for two nights. It had compelled her to ask Dr. Myrick to come this morning, when he had said there was no need. It was not strong enough for her to brave his amused look of patronage by calling him again. But it was strong enough to make her uneasy, brooding, restless. Molly certainly did not look any worse now. With the medicine in the house, with Margaret at hand, with a telephone in the hall, why should she worry?

For a few moments Alicia had been conscious of disturbances downstairs. Somebody was talking with Margaret in the kitchen. Perhaps a chat with Margaret might shake off this melancholy. Molly rested quietly. Alicia went down the long front stairs. Halfway down she stopped. Why, she did not know. It came to her that she had heard something—a sound like the clicking of a door.

"Is that you, Margaret?" she called.

No answer came. She proceeded to the kitchen, wondering what trick her nerves would play on her next. The kitchen was empty. But as she turned to go upstairs, Margaret emerged from the cellar, followed by a man. He bowed awkwardly. She returned to Molly's side, tried to read, tried to sew, gave up both, took to her melancholy pacing again.

Eight o'clock struck, and nine. Alicia heard the maid's visitor depart, heard her prepare her own dinner, heard her lock up, made out from her movements that she was sitting down to one of the paper covered romances that engaged most of her evenings. Alicia sat down exhausted at last and studied Molly's sunken look. The storm had come; the rain seemed to fall with a crash. How long she sat thus she did not know. But her eyelids, overweighted with sleeplessness and worry, must have dropped. Not for long, however. A sound from the bed brought them open to their widest look of terror. Molly had gone deathly white, was choking and gasping.

Alicia scooped the child from the bed to an upright position. "Margaret!" she shrieked.

Margaret came tearing upstairs. Alicia pointed mutely to the bottle on the mantlepiece across the room. Margaret seized it, reached for the spoon. There was the sound of smashing glass. The two women dumbly watched a spot growing on the carpet.

"Ah, glory be, what have I done!" howled Margaret.

"Done!" But Alicia had no time for anger. "Go to the telephone, Margaret." Her voice was steely with command. "Call up Pearson. Tell him to send us a bottle of medicine just like the one he put up for Dr. Myrick this afternoon. Tell him it's a matter of life and death. Then telephone to Dr. Myrick to come immediately.

Margaret ran into the hall. Alicia continued to fan Molly. "Hurry, Margaret!" she called.

But Margaret was talking—and her voice shook. "Sure, mum, an' there's something wrong with the tilliphone. Nobody answers no matter how often I take the thing off and put it on."

"Go down to Pearson's yourself, Margaret. There's an old mackintosh of mine downstairs in the back closet and some rubber boots."

"Oh, my God, mum," Margaret yelled, "there's a man in the house!"

Margaret flew down the stairs. Alicia listened. Would she never reach the bottom? "Tell Pearson to send any doctor he can get if Dr. Myrick's not in. Run, Margaret!" She heard Margaret fumbling at the closet—heard the door opening—heard Margaret stumbling into things—a sudden pause—then a scream that turned her blood to needles of ice.

"Oh, my God, mum," Margaret yelled, "there's a man in the house!"

Alicia heard her fling out of the closet, close the door, turn the key.

"What'll we do, mum, all alone—" came up to her in fading accents. The voice died away in a murmur. She knew that Margaret had fainted.

For an instant Alicia looked down at the tiny white face, breathing in gasps. Then very gently she lifted Molly to her shoulder and ran with her downstairs. Margaret lay in a heap. Alicia walked to the closet door, opened it. A pause—then the doorway filled. A huge old man with iron-gray hair bristled away from a scarred face stood looking at her.

"My little girl is dying," Alicia said. "Oh, will you get some medicine for her?" She put her free hand on his arm.

He looked at her steadily. "Sure, an' I will, ma'am."

Alicia pointed to the prescription which Margaret had dropped. "Go to Pearson's at the foot of the street——"

"I heard you telling her." He picked up the paper from the floor. "Don't you worry, ma'am." The door opened. He was gone.

Alicia left Margaret to come out of her faint. She carried Molly upstairs. Alicia bathed her face and hands. She fanned her. There was no recurrence of the more fearful symptoms, but it seemed to her that the child was growing weaker, whiter, was breathing more faintly.

Terrible thoughts came to her. If Molly died, she would be her murderer for not trusting to the heaven-sent intuition that had told her the child was going to be worse,—for not calling Dr. Myrick. If Molly died she would be her murderer for permitting herself to be alone in the house with a stupid servant girl. If Molly died, she would be her murderer for trusting a criminal to send aid. Why had she not taken the child in her arms, walked out of the house, to the nearest neighbor—she could have held the rain off with many blankets. Perhaps she had better do that now. She listened to the uproar outside—instinct told her that madness lay that way. Oh, if Margaret would only come to. She heard a voice that did not seem her own say, "Margaret, Margaret, Margaret!" But no answer came.

When the bell rang the voice stopped. Putting Molly down, she ran to the door. And it opened—not to the druggist's clerk, but to her messenger.

"I brought it back mesilf, ma'am, to be sure," he said, flourishing the bottle. He bounded up the stairs. As he ran he talked, and as he talked he took off his wet coat, and hung it over the bannister. Alicia followed. "I called up y'r docthur mesilf, ma'am. He was not at home, but I lift wurrud with that small pup of a drooggist's clerk, 'twas mesilf wud smash the jawr off him if he didn't get a docthur here inside of fifteen minuts." He seemed to go by instinct straight to Molly's side. "Ah, the poor little colleen!" he said, bending over her.

It was his huge, steady arm that lifted the child while Alicia poured out the medicine. He stood by Alicia's side and watched in silence for the effect. For a while it seemed to quiet Molly, to make breathing more easy. But in a few moments a new restlessness animated her. She began to stir, to moan, to struggle back and forth over the couch. Alicia started to take her. But the reaction of three sleepless nights and her long days' vigil had come. Molly's frail little form shook in her trembling arms.

"You rist y'rsilf, ma'am, I'll take care of the baby. Sure all she needs is to be walked—manny's the toime I've walked all noight wid a little wan, not half the soize of a doll." He lifted Molly. Carefully and tenderly he fitted the child's head into his enormous shoulder. He began to walk with her. "Now you lie down, ma'am," he said.

Alicia obeyed him. She sank down among the pillows and lay relaxed and still. She reflected vaguely that she was glad somebody had taken charge of her affairs. After this her mind seemed to stop working. She lay and watched—watched a big, bulky, sinister-looking man whom she did not know and whose strangeness she presently forgot, carrying Molly. Up and down, back and forth he went a great many times; and still, not thinking of anything, she watched him. After a while it seemed to her that she did not watch as much as she listened. For when Molly stirred and moaned, she heard a voice, rich with the softest of old-country brogues and softened to a purr by a wonderful tenderness, murmuring Irish pet names. "Mavourneen" and "acushla" were the only ones she could remember afterwards. And at times the soft purring voice sang—she recognized old Irish airs, crooning cradle songs, lilting love lyrics. How gay they were, and yet, underneath, what melancholy!

After a while the wind died down. The rain stopped. She heard Margaret stagger to her feet and lumber over to the couch in the hall, heard her call, "Sure, mum, there's somebody knocking on the kitchen window." She watched the old man disappear into the hall, still carrying Molly, heard his tight, swift footsteps on the stairs, his whispered colloquay at a raised window—his stern "Go to bed this minut," to Margaret in passing; his steps returning. Without thinking, and with no sense of responsibility, she watched and listened. After a while Molly's breathing became easy and regular, although it mixed itself all up in her mother's ears with the ticking of the clock. Alicia's eyelids fell—rose—fell—rose—fell——

What old Pat thought during all those long hours is not a part of this history. Certain it is that the longer he walked the bigger he seemed to grow, the more stately his air became. When the dawn began to peep through the windows he laid the sleeping little girl beside her sleeping mother and covered them both. When he stole out of the house he had the grand look that he always wore when he reminded young Pat that they were descended from kings.

Nobody passed that morning a certain open lot not far from the Prendergast house. But weird cries that seemed to come from it smote the ears of early risers. Afterwards they tried to connect the disturbance with an abortive attempt made that night to rob the Prendergast house. People who drew that inference builded better than they knew. It was old Pat taking that place and occasion to beat young Pat for being a burglar.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., May 16.—General rains west, northwest and southwest quenched temporarily at least, the hopes for an advance today in the price of wheat. Summaries of European crop conditions had a somewhat similar effect, as the showing was that the high promises of April 1 had been maintained. Predictions of additional showers tonight in both the spring wheat country and the winter wheat section acted as a further damper on bull enthusiasm. The opening was ¼c to 1c lower on scattered selling. September started at $1.01⅛ to $1.01⅜, a loss of ¼c to ⅝c and touched $1.01⅛, but reacted to $1.01⅝@1.01¾ on purchases by leading longs.

In corn trade was light. Prices followed the course of wheat, some dealers buying back corn sold early. September opened a shade to ⅛@¼c down at 63½c to 63¼c and after selling at 63c, rallied to 63⅝c.

Scattered purchases by commission houses helped to maintain equilibrium in the oats pit. September opened unchanged to ¼c lower at 39⅜@39½c and later sold at 39⅝c.

A larger run of hogs here resulted in poor support for provisions. The market for products opened from 10c to 15c off and continued weak.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, May 16.—The opening dealings in stocks today were light in the absence of the usual orders from abroad on account of the foreign stock markets being closed. Prices advanced in leisurely fashion, the gains in International Harvester and Reading second preferred reaching 1 in Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Wabash preferred and Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie large fractions.

The tone became stronger, but there was no corresponding increase in business. Reading, Southern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Ontario & Western, Chicago Great Western preferred, Lake Erie & Western preferred, Amalgamated Copper, American Steel Foundries and Sloss-Sheffield Steel advanced 1. Northern Pacific 1⅜ and Reading second preferred and American Car preferred 2. Realizing sales depressed Canadian Pacific 2 and St. Louis & San Francisco first preferred gave way 2½.

The desire to await the action of the supreme court added to the closing of foreign stock markets intensified the dullness. Prices were allowed to fall back a fraction, but hardened again before noon. Reading and International Pump preferred rose 1⅝. Bonds were firmer.

A further fractional rise in Reading had strengthening effect on the rest of the market and there was a little better demand. Union Pacific and Southern Railway preferred gained 1⅜.

Prices crept slowly upward with the buying smaller as the advance progressed. Reading was the feature, touching 164½, a rise of 2¼. United States Steel reached 84. Western stocks made the best showing of strength.

The market closed easy and dull. Appointment of a receiver for the Hocking Valley in a suit to prevent its sale to the Chesapeake & Ohio caused a decline of 1 point in the latter stock and a reaction in the whole list. St. Louis Southwestern preferred, Wabash preferred, United States Rubber and Hocking Coal lost 1. Western Maryland advanced 3⅛ and Great Northern Ore Certificates 1. Reading reacted 1¾ and fractional losses were established for many stocks.
